Some Small Straws.
The Pope Speaks.
Work for Farmers.
Italy's Achievement.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

SMALL STRAWS blowing in an unpleasant direction are not important in themselves, but call for attention.

First a group of farmers in Arkansas entered stores, demanding food for their children.

Then came a not very serious march on the Newark City Hall by gentlemen who call themselves "reds."

And yesterday in New York, across the Hudson River, crowds stormed Salvation Army food storerooms shouting "Don't starve! Fight." Fifty were injured.

All this doesn't mean much among 120,000,000 people, but it does mean that any distribution of food or clothing, or arrangements for free lodging should be looked after by the government, efficiently. It isn't a job for a Red Cross, a Salvation Army or any other organization outside of the government.

THE ENCYCLICAL of Pope Pius, issued in Vatican City yesterday, reaffirms Catholic doctrine concerning marriage, the first reaffirmation in 50 years.

Those practicing birth control, according to the Pope, are "branded with the guilt of a grave crime," and abortions he calls "murder." Marriage is indissoluble, and cannot be broken for any reason whatever. Experimental or companionate marriage is absolutely condemned.

OPINIONS DIFFER on the surface of this small earth. The Lambeth conference of British bishops last summer, for instance, indorsed birth control under certain circumstances.

And some, recently returned from Russia, report that, in government hospitals there, abortions are performed by government surgeons, free of charge if a woman can prove that health or poverty makes the abortion necessary. And, regardless of reasons, the operation is performed if the patient can pay for it.

It is difficult to believe that Russia would thus deliberately plan to diminish her population, when she is short of workers by 2,000,000 men. But the statement is made positively.

THE POPE'S message of 16,000 words, written with great earnestness and no compromise whatever, includes this powerful sentence:

"The Catholic church, to whom God has intrusted the defense of the integrity and the purity of morals, stands erect in the midst of the moral ruins which surround her."

AN IMPORTANT proposition for unemployment relief in which President Hoover is said to be interested would use some of the money that the government will spend on improving country roads, connecting farms with great highways.

On such work, farmers with their horses, plows and wagons could be profitably employed.

Highways need feeders in the shape of country roads leading to the farms, and farmers need access to highways. And they also need work.

BUILDING GREAT highways of concrete, reinforced with steel, is important. But that work gives no opportunity to farmers. Done by special machinery, heavy trucks, and a few workmen, it offers no opportunity to the average unemployed.

IT IS A GOOD thing for government to build postoffices and other buildings that employ union labor, an excellent idea to build the great highways that employ contractors and modern machinery. But all that does not give work to the average man, idle and despondent.

He can't suddenly learn to lay bricks and put in plumbing, or work a great concrete mixer or pourer, but he needs work.

THE FACT is revealed that five of Italy's finest fliers were killed, and three others injured on the marvelous "formation flight" across the Atlantic, to Brazil. The news was concealed at first, in order not to spoil the joy of Italy at the great achievement.

There is sorrow now, but the glory of the achievement is not diminished, but made greater, by the courage of the survivors, continuing their flight and completing it successfully, as planned, in military formation, according to orders.

Men that die in the effort to add lustre to the name of their country never die vainly.

THE GERMAN government wants to improve conditions, and goes at it with something of Mussolini's thoroughness. Taking prices of August 1, 1930, as a "peak" basis, the minister of economics orders price reductions on necessities of at least 10 per cent. This applies to all goods produced by "cartels," which we should call "trusts."

The list includes nearly half of all articles used daily in Germany, among others foods, medicines, drinks, soaps, clothing, automobile tires, electrical goods, sewing machines.

The plan is to promote consumption, and help business.

FILM STARS ARMED FOR KIDNAPERS

Hollywood Folk Prepare for Raids by Robbers, Thugs; Chaplin Case Unsolved

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 9.—(AP.)—Filmland is girding itself for war. Blank cartridges have been replaced by real ones in weapons buckled on by hitherto synthetic warriors, as picture folk accept what they believe to be a challenge from the underworld.

The warlike atmosphere prevailing in this star-spangled city is the result of the kidnaping and robbing in New York Wednesday night of Lita Grey Chaplin. Mrs. Chaplin reported she was robbed of $14,000 in jewelry.

STIRRED BY CHAPLIN CASE

The action of the kidnapers who robbed the former wife of Charlie Chaplin, with her escort, Georges Carpentier, former heavyweight boxer, and now an actor, at the point of pistols, was regarded here today as a possible forerunner of future similar attempts on people of the films.

Robbery attempts made recently in Hollywood, which resulted disastrously for the would-be holdup men, further strengthened the belief of film folk that the attractive field offered by them to gunmen

Wheeler Insists U.S. Sue Clarion Power Concern

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(AP.)—Demand for criminal proceedings by Attorney General Mitchell against the Clarion River Power Company, of Johnstown, Pa., was before the Senate today.

Meanwhile, a vote before adjournment tonight on the motion for reconsideration of the three nominations to the Power Commission was demanded by both Republican and Democratic leaders.

The debate has tied up all legislation five days. Apprehensive of a filibuster, the Republican leadership proposed an agreement for a vote on the motion of Senator Walsh (Dem.), Montana, to recall the nominations.

AVOID FILBUSTER

The apparent disposition of the Senate to vote on the Power Commission now temporarily dispelled fears of the leadership of a filibuster to force an extra session of Congress. They are determined, nevertheless, to seek night sessions next week in an effort to

J. & L. LINKED TO MERGER RUMOR

Eaton, Campbell and Grace Planning Combine to Rival U. S. Steel, Report

CLEVELAND, Jan. 9.—(AP.)—Formation of a $2,000,000,000 steel merger to rival the giant United States Steel Corporation is being considered by a number of prominent steel men and financiers, it was reported here today.

According to the Cleveland News, the new merger "talk" includes the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Jones & Laughlin, Corrigan-McKinney and Otis Steel.

Cyrus S. Eaton, of Republic Steel; James A. Campbell, of Youngstown Sheet and Tube, and Eugene G. Grace, of Bethlehem, met in New York yesterday, the News says, and discussed terms and titles for the $2,000,000,000 deal, mentioning Jones & Laughlin, of Pittsburgh, as a participant.

DETERMINED ON COMBINE

Quoting one news source, the News says:

FOUR ROBBED IN SQUIRE'S OFFICE

Corporal Loses Weapon, Police Chief, Justice Give Up Cash; Bandit Escapes

Chief Philip Mitchell, of Millvale police; Justice of the Peace Eugene Mehrlich, of Shaler Township, Corp. Larry Moore, of the Perrysville detail, state highway patrol, and Bert Munn, of Greenhill road, Shaler Township, today were anxious to meet again the lone robber who held them up in Squire Mehrlich's office, 1411 Greenfield avenue, Shaler Township, last night.

Expecting to find the squire alone, it is believed, the holdup man was as surprised as were his victims when he stepped into the room with the police chief, the highway patrolmen and the other two men. His face covered with a blue bandanna handkerchief, the robber flourished two guns. He bluntly ordered:

"Stick 'em up!"

The robber stole the corporal's revolver, $7 belonging to the police chief and took $5 from the justice of the peace.

HOLDUP MAN HUNTED

The officers obtained an old soft brown hat and a gauntlet driving glove for the right hand, believed to have been dropped by the robber 50 yards from the scene of the holdup.

The four victims, aided by Adam Schrecker, C. J. Klein and Fred Stoll, neighbors of Mehrlich, scoured the vicinity for the thug, who escaped in the darkness. Later Corp. Moore enlisted the aid of Capt. Anthony Block and a squad of North Side policemen, who searched the North Side for the thief.

TAKES CORPORAL'S GUN

Mehrlich was standing back of his desk talking to his three companions, who were seated about the sides of the room. They could not be seen from outside, and it is believed the thug thought the squire was alone in his office.

WAYNE MUNN, WRESTLER, DIES

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 9.—(AP.)—Wayne (Big) Munn, 35, former heavyweight wrestling champion, died early today in the base hospital, Fort Sam Houston, from Bright's disease.

The gigantic athlete, who gained fame in football at the University of Nebraska and later became recognized as world's heavyweight wrestling champion by defeating Ed (Strangler) Lewis, in Kansas City, in 1925, came to San Antonio for treatment about a year ago.

Munn refereed a few wrestling matches, gave exhibitions on request and spoke before schools and clubs, but his condition gradually failed and about 10 days ago doctors put him to bed as gravely ill.

Receiver Appointed For Roosevelt Hotel

Attorney David L. Starr today was named receiver for the General Forbes Hotel Company, owner of the Roosevelt Hotel, Penn avenue and Sixth street, after a petition in involuntary bankruptcy had been filed. Claims in the petition total $29,925. It was stated that foreclosure proceedings on the real estate are pending, but that there is a dispute as to the personal property and a bond issue on the realty.

Ford Plant to Recall 50,000 Men Monday

DETROIT, Jan. 9.—(INS.)—Approximately 50,000 automobile workers will be recalled to the Ford factories in the Detroit area next Monday, official announcement stated this afternoon. About 22,000 men now are on the payroll, and the increase will bring the total number to approximately 70,000. Capacity is 85,000 laborers.

Senate Must Oust Davis, Nye Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—(INS.)—Senator Nye, of North Dekota, chairman of the campaign funds committee, said today he failed to see how the Senate could consistently avoid adopting a resolution to oust Senator James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania, former secretary of Labor.

His committee has revealed that the Davis-Brown primary campaign cost $774,000, while expenditures in the general election for Davis and his Republican running mates cost another $500,000. The Senate excluded William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, because his primary campaign cost the same as Davis.

Nye refused to say whether he would introduce such a resolution, but the inference was that he will do so unless some other senator does. Nye's committee will submit its report next week.

HANNA NAMED WELFARE HEAD

HARRISBURG, Jan. 9.—John L. Hanna, of Franklin, Venango County, was appointed today by Gov.-elect Gifford Pinchot as secretary of welfare in the incoming administration.

The post had been offered to Dr. Ellen C. Potter, who headed the Welfare Department in the first Pinchot administration, but she declined the offer to continue in welfare work under civil service protection in New Jersey.

The new secretary of welfare is not a physician, but the Governor-elect stressed the experience Hanna had in welfare administration. He had been head of the Polk State Hospital during the period when it was reorganized and placed on a sounder financial footing.

Pinchot plans to leave here this afternoon for Milford, where he will spend the week-end putting finishing touches on his inaugural address. It is probable, he said, additional cabinet appointments will be announced there. Monday night he will return here to remain until his inauguration, January 20.

Fisher's Secretary To Get Labor Post

Gov. John S. Fisher's secretary, Frank J. Gorman, is to get a berth in the official family of Governor-elect Gifford Pinchot, it was reported in Harrisburg today.

Gorman, former Philadelphia officeholder, is to be named secretary of labor and industry in the Pinchot cabinet, according to the report.

Walsh Bans 'Hunger' Parade

Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh today refused to grant a permit to the Union Unity League to hold a "Hunger Parade" through the downtown and North Side streets Wednesday afternoon.

R. A. Woods, secretary of the league, said the parade would be held regardless of Walsh's refusal.

Walsh said the league was of Communistic origin. He warned the officials of the organization that police would be instructed to break the ranks of the parade if the demonstration was held.

The league planned to assemble in the North Side, march up Fifth avenue, and hold a speaking program in front of the City-County Building.

THOMPSON HERE FOR SIGHT AID

Josiah V. Thompson, the broken financial wizard of Fayette County, is in the Eye and Ear Hospital today. He came down from his Oak Hill estate near Uniontown yesterday to undergo an operation to save his failing sight.

For more than 15 years, since the time he reputed former coal baron's $76,000,000 assets crashed and rocked the financial foundations of Uniontown, Thompson's case has been battered back and forth in Fayette County courts. The case wound up shortly before Christmas, when he was released from the Fayette County jail, where he was confined for contempt.

He shunned the attendance of a porter at the station yesterday and carried his own valise. As he trudged through the station he was met by two women who escorted him to a waiting Ford, driven by another woman. He informed reporters he had nothing to say.

Mussolini Writes Play, Then Helps Stage It

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL,
International News Service.

ROME, Jan. 9.—When an interested and approving audience gathered in the Argentina Theater here recently to view the opening performance of "Campo Di Maggio," a new historical play, it little suspected that Premier Mussolini, who applauded from a box, was co-author of the play and had taken an active part in staging it.

Although it is not generally known, International News Service learned that the Italian dictator practically supervised the production, using every opportunity to drive home in the situation and in the lines of the play his ideas regarding armies and politics and government. The play is attributed solely to Giovacchino Forzano, one of Italy's most clever playwrights.

Mussolinin left no stone unturned in his efforts to praise the work of the strong single leader and to belittle the rule of assemblies and group leaders.

The play deals with the life of the Emperor Napoleon after his return from Elba. It describes the end of the great man, betrayed by Fouche and undone by the Chambers. It is interesting in this connection that Mussolini, a great student of Napoleon, paid more attention to the sad end of the French hero than to his period of glory.

Pershing War Story Lauded By City School Head

By DR. BEN G. GRAHAM,
Superintendent of Pittsburgh Schools.

After reading the first chapters of Gen. Pershing's War Memoirs I am very favorably impressed with the personal and interesting narrative which Gen. Pershing has prepared.

To me history becomes a living thing through the great personalities who have contributed through their leadership to mold human destiny. As Gen. Pershing reveals his participation in the great war it becomes an intimate, living thing.

The students of history in our high schools will find much that is helpful in understanding the great war by reading these interesting memoirs.

Judging from the first chapters the entire story will give one, for the first time, a proper interpretation of America's participation in the war as seen through the eyes of our greatest military leader.

(This is one of a series of comments by educators and authorities on the value of and importance of Gen. Pershing's Memoirs, which the Sun-Telegraph will publish exclusively beginning January 12.

DAWES LAUDS GEN. PERSHING'S 'COURAGEOUS DISCIPLINE'

SACRIFICED POPULARITY TO DUTY

Acts Which Lost Him Friends Made Him Great, Says American Ambassador

By CHARLES G. DAWES
American Ambassador to Great Britain
As Told to Negley Farson

As an old friend and comrade of Gen. Pershing, I have been awaiting the publication of his book with expectancy. I am saying this before I have seen his book, much less read it, but I venture to predict that it will bear the imprint of certain characteristics of Gen. Pershing's which account not only for his success but for his enmities, not only for his present popularity among the rank and file of the A. E. F. but for the bitter criticism of some of these same men at the time of their demobilization after the war.

Just as the courageous attitudes of public men which made them unpopular in their lifetime become with posterity often their chief claim to statesmanship, so with this army commander history will assign as evidence of his greatness some of the very acts in time of emergency which set his contemporaries abuzz with indignation.

Those characteristic qualities which enabled Gen. Pershing, against enormous pressure, to maintain the independent functioning of the American Army were manifested continuously in similar but less critical situations.

Resented Discipline

Men who had emerged from more than 40 days of terrible fighting in the Argonne and, indeed, all the Army in France, realizing that the war was over and won, naturally tended to resent the degree of discipline maintenance which the commander-in-chief deemed absolutely necessary as a matter both of wisdom and duty.

With the coming of the Armistice there had been loosed upon France like a swarm of locusts a great number of well-meaning Americans, including politicians, who, forgetful that the field was already covered by our civil and military war-time organizations, plunged themselves into various activities including oratory, which, for want of better terms, I may describe as designed partly for the relaxation of the American soldier and partly for his overpraise.

One of these individuals, who afterwards came not only to recognize and confess his error, but to defend Gen. Pershing at home, protested that it was an undignified and a wrong thing to compel the American Doughboy to work upon the restoration of certain French roads in accordance with war time inter-army agreements. He regarded this work as something insulting to them and to their service.

Not All Armed

A very considerable part of our army of necessity never handled anything but spades and other implements of hard work in the war, and they did their glorious work with them. It was not their fault that they were not at the front. They were the same kind of men as the rest of the army, and when the German break through came on March 21, 1918, some of these engineer soldiers working near the British line had thrown down their spades, taken rifles from the dead on the battlefield and joined in the desperate counter attack with British troops.

This particular individual far from resenting an insult to the American army was himself insulting a considerable section of it who had spent virtually all their war service digging in ditches, building railroads, erecting hospitals and procuring and moving supplies and munitions.

Another man published critical interviews based on American complaints as to the alleged non-delivery or loss of army mail sent during the war to soldiers and received at a time when the troops were in action, under conditions impossible properly to visualize.

Critics Converted

I mention these two instances because the men in question—two powerful American politicians—were called before Gen. Pershing who set forth the natural consequences of encouraging insubordination and trouble in the American army at such a critical time of natural restlessness. These men were honest enough and sensible enough to realize the force of the facts of which they had not known and the reasons for the attitude of Gen. Pershing.

On their return to America they immediately became powerful defenders of the honor and record of the American Army and of its commander at the very time when the serialled investigation committees were starting upon their quest with the fool idea that they could exploit themselves and their political interests by throwing muck upon the American military achievement.

Morale Preserved

Nobody knew better than Gen. Pershing that his refusal to grant the generally-demanded relaxation of discipline in our Army during the post-armistice period was making him unpopular for the time being among our soldiers. But he knew that he owed it to them and to the country to take no risks by granting indiscriminate leaves of absence, for instance, and sent his men back as he did—an Army upon whose conduct during their entire stay in France there had been no spot or stain and who left a memory not only in France but in the world, which is a glory to our nation and its history.

In these days of widespread political cowardice and playing to the crowd, it is well to point out that in the long run Gen. Pershing has been rewarded for his performance of duty not only by general public respect and high appreciation, but also by the love and devotion of his noble comrades in the rank and file of the American expeditionary forces, whose real interests were ever nearest his heart.

burgh Sun-Telegraph and the Pittsburgh Press. The convention opened this morning and will close with the annual banquet tomorrow night.

Selection of Wilkes-Barre as next year's convention city, with Harrisburg to follow every other year, was the first general business considered at the opening session.

The session was opened with addresses of welcome by D. N. Slep, of Altoona, president of the association who presided. Harry C. Milholland and A. A. Brasley, both of Pittsburgh. That newspapers should endeavor to assist in bringing business from its slump was the urge of William N. Hardy, associate manager, who cited in his annual report the economic measures publishers have been able to effect through working with the organization.

JOURNALISM SCHOOLS

Schools of journalism were praised for the value they can lend in developing better newspapermen. Two speakers discussed the subject. E. J. Lynett, of Scranton, declared that in the Pennsylvania State College the publishers of the state possess one of the outstanding journalism schools in the country. He said:

"While some of the graduates of journalism may feel themselves fitted to step into the editorial chair, it was necessary that all should begin on the lower rung of the ladder. Yet, they are equipped with a better understanding and if sincere in their efforts to follow the profession, can rise more readily. However, there are today directing destinies of papers men who rose from newsboys."

STATE COLLEGE PIONEER

Harold D. Jacobs, of Pittsburgh, reviewed the history of journalism schools. State College was credited with starting the first class in 1857, but through lack of funds had to be abandoned. That newspaper publishers were changing their attitude towards graduates was evident, he said, though some still hesitated in accepting the school at its worth.

Other speakers at the luncheon were George B. Parker, editor-in-chief of the Scripp-Howard newspapers, who declared the duty of the newspaper was to tell current events accurately, and Jack Callahan, comic strip cartoonist, who gave a humorous talk. Braton R. Gardner, of Montrose, presided.

FORUMS HELD

The afternoon session was divided into two sections, separate forums being conducted for daily and weekly newspapers. John L. Stewart, of Washington, Pa., presided at the daily session at which technical and business problems were discussed by R. A. Bartlett and Harrison C. MacDonald. The weekly section heard E. S. Hassler, of Grove City, and John Bennett Bissell, of Pittsburgh, on similar subjects.

A smoker will be the feature tonight. Among speakers will be William A. Thomson, association director; Herbert D. Brauff, of Vandergrift; L. A. N. DeLisser, A. W. Howland and Frederic A. Kimball, of New York; Frank T. Carroll, Pittsburgh; R. S. Nightingale, Clearfield, and Mr. Bissell.

MARTIN HOLDS PARLEY WITH ARMSTRONG

State Chairman Silent on Meeting; McGovern Seen Rival to Commissioner

Republican State Chairman Edward Martin paid an unexpected visit this afternoon on County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, who is also Allegheny County chairman, at his office in the Courthouse.

The call caused speculation in political circles. Its purpose was not disclosed.

Commenting on the deductions of politically-minded persons who can visualize the 1931 primary election as a harmony deal, Commissioner Armstrong today said:

"It would be rather unusual for me and County Commissioner McGovern to be running on the same ticket. But he would be a hard candidate for anybody to beat if he ran in the Republican primaries."

Commissioner Charles C. McGovern said:

"It's a long way off to be saying what you might or might not do. I probably will be a candidate in the primary election. But I do not want the impression to be created that I would be with anybody or in on any deal.

WOULD RUN ON RECORD

"I would go before the people on my record. There will be two commissioners nominated in the primary. If it so happened that Commissioner Armstrong and I were the choice of the people at the primaries that would be one of the strange things that happen in politics.

"However, it would not mean that I would in any sense be committed to any of Commissioner Armstrong's ideas of Republicanism. If I happened to lose in the primary election I would be right on the job running independently in the general election."

FOUR CANDIDATES SEEN

There is much discussion as to possibilities and probabilities of the county fight. Opinion seems united on one point, that McGovern looks like a hard candidate to beat because of the independent vote. There are those who believe there may be four candidates on the Republican primary ballot.

These observers put Commissioner Armstrong and Senator James J. Coyne as running mates and Commissioner McGovern and County Treasurer John Francies as running mates, all seeking the two Republican nominations. And with this lineup there is no predicting what the answer might be after the votes are counted.

SLATE MAKERS TO MEET

The next major political activity of the state is the meeting of the Legislature's slate committee, of which Dr. Joseph G. Steedle, McKees Rocks, is chairman.

Heretofore held in Philadelphia, the meeting this year will take place in Harrisburg.

This joint committee of the House and Senate has the job of handing out the approximately 200 state jobs which average about $7 a day, including sergeants-at-arms, pasters, folders and the numerous mailing room employes at the capitol. There are more applicants than ever before.

The entire personnel of the committee has not been completed. Representatives Carl C. Baldrige, Edgewood, and William T. Bell, of Sacramento street, are the two Allegheny County members.

KELLOGG HIT AS LOBBYIST FOR COURT

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Frank Billings Kellogg, once a Senator from Minnesota and a former secretary of state, stepped out of his role as a judge of the League of Nations Court to become a lobbyist in the Senate for American adherence to the League tribunal.

For several hours yesterday the League Court jurist was busy on the Senate floor and in the cloakrooms marking for the adoption of the Root-Hurst formula, which would strip the United States of the safeguards in the Senate reservation.

SENATORS AMAZED

Several senators expressed astonishment that Kellogg, now bound by oath to uphold an international tribunal, should use his privileges of the Senate floor, given to him by virtue of his former membership, for lobbying.

Kellogg appeared on the Senate floor, where many senators, without knowing his mission, greeted him warmly as a former member of the Senate. But it was not long before his mission was known.

He got little encouragement from the foes of the League Court as to Senate ratification of the Root-Hurst formula.

APPROACHES FOE

The League Court justice approached one of the foremost opponents of the League Court and asked:

"Is there any way by which the court protocol can be ratified?"

The emphatic answer was:

"No."

Kellogg's next inquiry was:

"Then you fellows have it beaten?"

He was told:

"We certainly have."

Kellogg was informed that 28 votes against the league were assured.

What inspired Kellogg to approach his former colleagues on the League Court was not revealed, but it was a matter of comment that he was a guest Wednesday of President Hoover at the White House.

The President, however, has given some of the Republican leaders assurance that he has no intention of calling a special session of the Senate in the spring to consider the League Court.

WHEELER ASKS U. S. TO SUE

speed up the vital appropriation bills.

"HIGH FINANCE"

Recalling the hailing into court of the company's rate making charges and Russell's statements before the court concerning alleged "watered" stock, Wheeler charged the company with practicing "high finance maneuvers" and asked:

"Where is the attorney general for not filing a criminal prosecution against this outfit for defrauding the government?"

BLAMES POWER TRUST

He attributed the discharge of Russell directly to the influence exerted by the power companies. Both Russell and his co-worker on the commission, William V. King, accountant, had been "fired," Wheeler said, "because they dared to do their duty and enforced the law rather than be rubber stamps for the power interests." He declared:

"The minute you tread on the toes of the power octopus you must expect to be fired."

CHAUFFEURS ARMED

The chauffeurs of Janet Gaynor, Edmund Lowe and Winfield Sheehan, film executive, hold permits to carry arms, while armed guards patrol the estates of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, Gloria Swanson, Harold Lloyd and many others prominent in pictures.

Guards accompany the children of some film stars at all times. Watchmen protect the actors and their estates. Hollywood has taken on the complexion of an armed camp.

Thugs in recent robbery attempts on picture stars were bested when George O'Brien, portrayer of he-man roles, battered two men to the ground after disarming them, and turned them over to police, while Walter Catlett, former headline vaudeville monologist and musical comedy star now in pictures, displayed some boxing skill in disarming and flooring a lone stickup man.

CHAPLIN QUIZ FRUITLESS

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (INS.)—Police continued their investigation today of the reported kidnaping and robbery of Lita Grey Chaplin and Georges Carpentier, in which the actress reported she lost her jewels. No trace of the four men reported to have kidnaped and robbed Mrs. Chaplin and the former French boxer was uncovered.

Mrs. Chaplin was so nervous from the experience she was unable to resume her stage engagement last night.

Mrs. Chaplin and Carpentier viewed photographs in the rogues' gallery at police headquarters in a fruitless effort to identify the bandits.

leading interest in some capacities."

The reported embryonic $2,000,000,000 deal comes close on the heels of the injunction which Eaton won recently to restrain a merger of Sheet and Tube and Bethlehem into $1,000,000,000 concern.

The News points out that Newton D. Baker, who as attorney for Bethelehem and Sheet and Tube unsuccessfully opposed Eaton's injunction attack, has sailed away on a Mediterranean cruise.

EATON'S AIM

Eaton, who is powerful in both Sheet and Tube and Republic, has been fighting "for a pure midwest consolidation," the News says. It asks then:

"Is Eaton tired of fighting the battle to keep a new and worthy competitor from making it interesting for the United States Steel Corporation?"

After reporting the Eaton-Campbell-Grace conference in New York, the News points out that stocks of the Eaton-controlled Republic Steel yesterday flared upward. The common lifted a couple of points and the preferred bounced up from around 38 to 45. Eaton's Continental Shares, which includes many of the Eaton steel interests, also climbed from around 45 to 51.

Bethlehem Stockholders Seek Bonus Fund Return

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP.)—An upshot of the Bethelhem Steel-Youngstown Sheet and Tube merger controversy appeared today in an announcement by a committee of Bethlehem minority stockholders that they would seek restitution of bonuses paid to Bethlehem officials.

The committee is composed of Henry B. H. Ripley, Edwin D. Levinson, Samuel D. Hopkins and Benjamin M. Robinson, secretary. This group, as stockholders of the Midvale company, received Bethlehem stock for part of the Midvale assets several years ago.

At a recent hearing of the injunction suit to prevent merger of Bethlehem Steel and Sheet and Tube, Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem, testified that he had received a bonus of $1,623,753 in 1929. The minority committee statement said that bonuses aggregating in excess of $36,000,000 had been paid chiefly to officers of the corporation who also were directors.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—(INS.)—Proceeding on the theory that a jealous suitor may have killed Mrs. Margaret Stevens, a divorcee who was found strangled to death in her apartment here, police today were searching for several acquaintances of the woman.

Germany Regaining Her Place, Coolidge Says

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 9.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

Germany has been regaining her place in the world with remarkable rapidity. While her large national expenses need reduction, all but reparations and interest on foreign loans go to her own people. Taxes are less than in England. Her merchant fleet and exports have risen to a high place.

Perhaps the best explanation of the World War was an eagerness in Europe to hurry progress. It led to universal tragic disaster. Contentment with normal development would have changed entirely the present world aspect. Germany especially would now be in an enviable position.

There are no short cuts in national life. If Germany will heed the lessons of the past and be content to work out her destiny by doing her best to meet her obligations, she will continue to grow in the estimation of the world and such sympathy and help as she needs will be forthcoming. To adopt some other course would endanger all the good opinion so laboriously gained since 1919. The responsible elements of her government appear to recognize this and are successfully striving to discharge national obligations. Their efforts are gaining the good will of other people.

Lingle Slaying Suspect's Sweetheart Held for Quiz

GIRL DENIES SEEING HIM RECENTLY

International News Service.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 9.—Margaret Farmer, alias Walsh, 26-year-old sweetheart of Leo V. Brothers, held in Chicago as the slayer of Alfred Lingle, was being held by police here today for questioning by Chicago authorities.

The woman admitted she knew Brothers, but said she had not seen him for two years, police said. Miss Farmer, a comely brunette, said she made a trip to Chicago last fall, but had not seen Brothers during her short stay there.

MOTHER CLAIMS INNOCENCE

Mrs. Robert Jessen, mother of Brothers, declared her son was innocent when interviewed in the suburb of Webster Groves. She said:

"Why, he didn't even know Lingle. He may die for somebody else's crime, but I am convinced he is not the murderer."

Brothers' wife, Mrs. Vera Brothers, said she married the Lingle suspect in 1919, and that he had never contributed to her support.

Details of Lingle Death Plot Revealed

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—(INS.)—Further details of the death plot which resulted in the killing of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, and the capture of Leo Brothers, St. Louis gunman, named as Lingle's slayer, were revealed to International News Service today from an exclusive source.

Leo Brothers.

Following was the outstanding information obtained:

Brothers got $600 for killing Lingle, it was said.

Every effort is being made by the "board of strategy" to build up a case which will stand in court against George "Bugs" Moran and Julian "Potatoes" Kaufman, surviving members of the inner gangland ring which planned the assassination of Lingle.

Lingle met his death because he was unable to pay back to Jack Zuta, the vice monger, since slain by avenging gunmen, $25,000 which had been advanced him as "expense money" to grease the way for opening of dog racing.

Associated in the murder plot with Moran and Kaufman were Zuta, Joe Aiello, co-leader of the North Side gang; and Pasquale "Patsy" Tardi, who acted as go-between with Brothers. All three have followed Lingle in death, shot because of their part in the conspiracy.

ADVOCATE SEES IDEA ADOPTED

Former Judge Says America Is Only Country Now Generally Practicing Plan

The United States is the only country where companionate marriage is generally practiced and all that is needed here is to legalize the type of marriage which is being performed by all ministers, according to Judge Ben Lindsey, in town for a lecture at Carnegie Music Hall tonight.

These views came as an answer to a statement by the Rev. Dr. John Ray Ewers in which Dr. Ewers says that companionate marriage exists in Russia and is not working very well. Very few of the clergy here plan to attend the lecture. The Rev. Dr. Albert E. Day, who debated the marriage question with Judge Lindsey about three years ago, will not be present.

CITES CLASH

Judge Lindsey believes that his clash with Bishop Manning in New York was the event responsible for the Pope's encyclical. He holds that the position of the Catholic Church on marriage cannot be maintained, since birth control is generally practiced and divorces are on the increase.

To meet the situation Judge Lindsey hopes to see divorces allowed where the facts in individual cases warrant. He wants it made legal to distribute information regarding sex and to practice birth control where economic conditions make it necessary.

Among others declining the privilege of hearing the former juvenile court judge were the Rev. Dr. John Ray Ewers, pastor of the East End Christian Church, and the Rev. Dr. Percival H. Barker, pastor of the Point Breeze Presbyterian Church.

LINDSEY NOT INVENTOR

Said Dr. Ewers:

"Judge Ben Lindsey is not the inventor of companionate marriage. For thousands of years men and women have been experimenting. Polygamy and polyandry have both been tried. The first when men were rich, the second when men were poor. Out of the age-long experimentation monogamy has evolved as the highest type of happiness, and as the most cultured solution of the problem.

Dr. Barker said:

"I am not attending the Lindsey lecture. I do not sponsor his cause. The most serious element in companionate marriage is not the postponement of children, but the fact that it attacks the very sacredness of personality, and is ruinous to the nation."

Dr. Day said:

"I do not intend to attend Judge Lindsey's lecture. I have lost faith in him. The world is too full of social problems and problem solvers to waste one's time attending lectures by men who do not seem to have a serious attitude toward the truth."

100 GET JOBS AT NEW PLANT

One hundred men from the Pittsburgh district will be given employment when a new smelter of the St. Joseph's Lead Company opens in Josephstown, near Rochester, Monday.

The plant, just constructed, will have a capacity of about 800 tons of ore weekly. Zinc oxide and metallic zinc for use in paint pigments are to be manufactured for use principally in the East. Ore will be brought from New York state, where the company holds mineral rights.

The St. Joseph's Lead Company specializes in the manufacture of lead and lead alloys for use in paints. It holds mines, land, railroads, power stations in Missouri, New York, Pennsylvania and Argentina.

Weds Man Beginning 15-Year Pen Term

DETROIT, Jan. 9.—(INS.)—Fred Nieporte, former Detroit policeman and confessed perpetrator of 23 robberies, today will be married to Miss Lola Rhoades, attractive 22-year-old Reynoldsville, Pa., girl behind the bars of the Wayne County Jail here.

Then the newlyweds will part for at least 15 years, while the husband takes a trip "up the river" to Marquette Penitentiary where he is to serve a term of from 15 to 20 years for the many robberies.

JOBLESS, KILLS WIFE, SELF

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 9.—Despondent over his inability to obtain employment, police say, George A. Diltz, 68, Bunker Hill-Southwest Greensburg, fatally wounded his wife, Anna, 64, here this morning and then shot himself in the head, dying instantly. His wife, shot through the skull, died several hours later in the Westmoreland General Hospital.

A violent quarrel preceded the shooting, according to a daughter, Mary, 27. She heard them arguing in the kitchen. Suddenly two shots were fired. She rushed downstairs where she found her parents lying on the floor.

N. Y. Bank Examiner Goes to Cell Tuesday

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(INS.)—Frank H. Warder, former state banking superintendent, must start for Sing Sing Prison on Tuesday to begin a sentence of five to 10 years. He was convicted for taking a bribe of $10,000 to postpone examination of the City Trust Company shortly before its $5,000,000 failure. Warder's last hope in his fight to stave off starting his prison term faded after Judge Benjamin N. Cardozo, of the Court of Appeals, upheld the Appellate division's affirmation of the trial jury's verdict.

$39.41 IN CASH PER CAPITA

The circulation statement of the Treasury showed today that on December 31 there was $4,890,000,000 going the rounds. A year previous it amounted to $4,864,000,000.

The holidays brought $230,000,000 additional into circulation, increasing the per capita circulation from $37.59 on November 30 to $39.41 on December 31. This compared with $53.01 on October 31, 1920, the peak in recent years. The lowest per capita circulation was on January 1, 1879, when it amounted to $16.92.

SEEK DEAD GIRL IN KING'S PARK

WINDSOR, Eng., Jan. 9.—(AP.)—Police were digging in the royal park surrounding Windsor Castle today, seeking clues to the disappearance, 17 months ago, of Winifred Parrant, a domestic servant.

They declined to say what had led them to the park, but admitted they had found a brief case tentatively identified as Miss Parrant's and that its contents indicated she might have met with foul play.

Windsor Castle has been a royal residence since the time of William the Conqueror. King Edward VII was buried there in 1910, and in a vault beneath the chapel George III and members of his family were entombed.

GIRL FLIERS UP 5TH DAY

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 9.—(INS.)—Having shattered the previous endurance flight record for women by three days, Bobby Trout and Edna May Cooper were still adding on the hours today, their fifth day aloft. Their plane, the Lady Rolph, apparently was functioning perfectly as it roared around the municipal airport in wide circles, and its occupants had not given the slightest indication when they would terminate their flight.

Weather conditions for flying were good. Wednesday night the women fliers took their ship to El Centro when rain clouds threatened. They returned here yesterday.

ANGLICANS MAY ANSWER POPE

LONDON, Jan. 9.—(INS.)—Pope Pius XI's encyclical on marriage issued yesterday, scathingly condemning modern marital views and practices, was generally regarded by London newspapers today as a sharp rejoinder to recent views on birth control reached by the Lambeth bishop's conference held here.

At Lambeth palace, headquarters of the Anglican Church, it was stated the encyclical was under consideration, but it was impossible to announce whether a reply would be issued.

Resolutions adopted by the Lambeth conference conceded birth control was admissible under certain circumstances, while the pontiff's encyclical unconditionally outlawed it along with divorce.

The London Daily Express, pointing out that the 16,000-word document was remarkable for its lucidity and precision, concluded:

Namesake of Pennsylvania War Governor Served in Army for Many Years

BEAVER, Pa., Jan. 9.—Maj. Andrew Gregg Curtin Quay, 65, son of the late United States Senator Matthew Stanley Quay, one of the most powerful and picturesque figures in Pennsylvania politics, died early today in his home here.

Born in Beaver County, January 3, 1866, he was named after Pennsylvania's Civil War governor, a close friend of his father. He was educated at Beaver College and at Eastburn Academy, later entering West Point, from which he was graduated in 1888.

thug's order. Moore, ordered to turn over his revolver, threw it on the desk, but the thug commanded him to toss it on a chair near the door where he was standing. Moore complied. The corporal later said he had no chance to open fire, as the first shell in his weapon was a tear gas pellet.

DEMANDS RING

The thug is believed to be well-acquainted in the vicinity, as he demanded from Mehrlich a diamond ring which the justice values at $500.

The justice answered the thug, saying:

"I don't have it on this evening."

Chief Mitchell was in plain clothes, but had his revolver. The thug kept Corp. Moore and Mitchell constantly covered with his two pistols.

As soon as the robber fled, Corp. Moore grabbed Mitchell's revolver and followed, but was unable to sight the fleeing holdup man.

SWISSVALE VET GETS AWARD

Patrick McTiernan, of 2411 Woodstock avenue, Swissvale, today was advised by the Veterans' Bureau at Washington that he had been awarded permanent total disability compensation for injuries suffered while serving in the Navy during the World War.

The award is the aftermath of an eight-year search for a naval officer who was the sole witness to McTiernan's injury. The witness was located recently on a ship on foreign waters by Representative Clyde Kelly. Eight years ago McTiernan first applied to the Veterans' Bureau, claiming compensation for an injured hip, suffered when he was thrown against the rail of a transport during a storm.

POPE CABLES BLESSING FOR RETREAT

Two Hundred Delegates Attend Sessions Today; Bishop Boyle Presides

A cablegram from Pope Pius XI bestowing his special blessing upon the fourth national laymen's retreat conference, being held in St. Vincent's College, Latrobe, was presented at the opening session today by the Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese. More than 200 delegates from 20 states, representing both clergy and laity of the Catholic church, are attending.

The cablegram, forwarded by Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, was addressed to Bishop Boyle:

POPE'S BLESSING

"The Holy Father, highly appreciating efforts in promoting retreats and stirring up interest among the laity in the same, approves and encourages the holy and important work of the Fourth National Retreat Conference. Heartily bestows special apostolic blessing on delegates, bishops, priests and laity."

The delegates were to be welcomed today with addresses by the Bishop Boyle and by the Rt. Rev. Alfred Koch, O. S. B., president of St. Vincent College and archabbot of the archabbey.

Six business sessions were scheduled for today and tomorrow. Sunday morning the delegates will come to Pittsburgh to take part in solemn pontifical vespers and benediction at St. Paul's Cathedral. The ceremonies Sunday will be at 3 o'clock and will close the conference.

Bishop Boyle will be celebrant at the services Sunday, and the sermon will be delivered by Bishop Gannon of Erie. 2 GO TO PRISON FOR BAD MONEY

Santo Leone and John DeMatteo, of New York, convicted last month of passing counterfeit $20 bills near Johnstown, were sentenced to serve two years in Atlanta Penitentiary, and to pay $500 fine each by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker in Federal Court today.

Attorney Louis Little pleaded for leniency, saying the defendants had not manufactured the spurious bills and made no profit in passing them.

Judge Schoonmaker replied:

"They have not aided the government in any way nor revealed the source of supply."

Little said:

"If they did they probably would have been put 'on the spot.' It was a case of being killed or going to jail."

Judge Schoonmaker concluded:

"Well, I think they had better go to jail."

A third member of the gang, Sebastini Passalacquain, prevented from appearing at the trial by illness, was brought here from New York yesterday. He likely will be tried at a special February term.

RALLY OF DRYS POSTPONED

Absence from the city of prominent Pittsburghers enlisted in a campaign of the Anti-Saloon League to offset attacks at anti-dry forces resulted in postponement of a dinner scheduled for last night in the University Club. The dinner is to be held Tuesday night, it was said.

The campaign here will be in charge of a central committee which, built around a nucleus of five men, has grown to a membership of 23. The committee list bears the names of men prominent in civic and industrial circles.

A similar committee is to be organized here among women, it was said.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 9.—(INS.)—Unfavorable weather today caused Lieut. William MacLaren and Mrs. Beryl Hart to postpone again their take-off for the Azores on the second leg of a projected "payload flight" to Paris in the seaplane Tradewind.

Necessity of repairing a damaged oil tank and unfavorable weather forced them to abandon their original intention of taking off for the Azores yesterday afternoon.

They landed here Wednesday, and have been feted extensively since.

Hudson Seal* Coats

This is the lowest price of the season on the ever-popular Hudson seal*, because the coats (brand-new ones!) were made up during the dull period in fur manufacture, and because they were sold to us directly from their source.

All are of the rich, smooth, fully furred quality which characterizes Horne coats of this fur at the regular higher price.

Of course, the slightly fitted and flared Hudson seal* coat with self trimming is the newest, and these have that new silhouette and smartly shaped collars and cuffs of their own fur.

SHOUSE SCORES HOOVER POLICY

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 9 (INS).—In a plea to his party to find a panacea for industrial depression, Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, today had included a criticism of Herbert Hoover in which he termed him a "presidential failure."

In his address Chairman Shouse designated the federal reserve act as an example of corrective industrial measures which might be employed to remedy commercial disturbances such as the depression from which the nation is emerging at present.

Shouse said the recent depression would not have proven so serious had not President Hoover "ignored the danger signals."

ANTI-DRYS HAIL VICTORY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Anti-prohibition forces in Congress scored their biggest victory in the 11 years of Volsteadism when the House passed the Stobbs bill, modifying the drastic Jones "Five and Ten" law.

The bill now is in the hands of President Hoover awaiting his signature.

Liberal members of Congress hailed the passage of this bill, drawing "teeth" from the Jones law, as the first step toward a return to reason in prohibition legislation.

Under the Stobbs bill, judges will be unable to send hip-flask toters and other petty offenders to prison at hard labor for as long as 10 years. The brand of felon is lifted from the minor offender.

The Jones law provided a maximum penalty of five years in prison at hard labor or $10,000 fine, or both, for any violation of the federal prohibition laws.

BERLIN, Jan. 9.—(AP.)—Acting under Article 43, the so-called dictator clause, of the German constitution, President Von Hindenburg today intervened in a coal dispute which threatened to tie up the Ruhr mines, signing an emergency decree vesting the government's arbiter with wider powers. Sarah Y. Mason Attends Stage Play and Now It's in Movies

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1931, by Bruce Catton.)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 9.

In attending a play one evening in London, Sarah Y. Mason started a train of events which eventually brought money to the coffers of a fellow writer and provided an excellent part for Robert Montgomery.

It was upon Miss Mason's advice that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer purchased the film rights to J. M. Harwood's "The Man in Possession."

Robert Montgomery

In due time Miss Mason was given the order to adapt it and Montgomery was chosen to play it. According to present plans, it will be his next assignment after "Strangers May Kiss." The popular young actor now is supporting Norma Shearer in this Ursula Parrott story.

SPOKEN FROM EXPERIENCE

During a scene from her new picture, "Unfaithful," Ruth Chatterton is called upon to throw the dice and lose.

"What point shall I take? What is a hard point?" she asked, helplessly.

Came a disillusioned voice from the electrician's runway above:

"They're all hard, lady."

MARION DAVIES' FILM

Next week will see Marion Davies at work upon her new comedy, "It's a Wise Child."

Even now the star and her supporting cast are at work rehearsing under the supervision of Director Robert Leonard.

"It's a Wise Child" will be the second Belasco comedy that Marion has made, and, like its predecessor, "The Bachelor Father," will have a splendid cast. Seen opposite the star will be Sydney Blackmer, who came from Broadway to join the talkies. Others include Robert McWade, veteran character actor, whose swiveling cigaris almost as famous as that of the late Theodore Roberts; Johnny Arthur, Clara Blandick, Polly Moran and Lester Vail, who showed real promise opposite Joan Crawford in "Paid."

Marion Davies

FAME FORBIDDEN HIM

The former San Quentin convict who wrote short stories in for 63 weeks in New York.

person and had them printed in the American Mercury is now in Hollywood writing a book. He also served as technical adviser upon the prison scenes in Columbia's "The Criminal Code."

Originally he cannot receive credit for any of these things. One of the terms of his parole was that his name should not be used in the exploitation of any story or picture concerning crime.

LATEST GOSSIP

Vilma Sekal will not make any more pictures for Warner Brothers. Her contract runs until March, but she is working it out in personal appearances with Viennese Nights," the Romberg-Hammerstein operetta that received such glowing praise in its eastern showing. Miss Segal is now at Washington with the picture.

Edward Everett Horton plays a dual role in Pathe's "Lonesome Wives," a lawyer and a vaudeville actor. His brother, Wynn, doubles for him in some of the long shots.

Buddy Rogers is back in town with a mustache and minus his appendix. He can't play golf or take violent exercise for several months. Incidentally, a chap named Karney Ballard, who works in Paramount's projection rooms looks enough like Buddy to be his twin. Paul Whiteman is back in town. He's vacation bent, nothing more.

DENISHAWN DANCERS TO STEP AT NIGHT

Ted Shawn and the Denishawn dancers will appear in the Nixon for one performance only, next Thursday evening, instead of Thursday afternoon as originally announced. Tickets sold for the afternoon will be good at night.

Thurston the magician and his daughter, Jane, will play a second week in the Alvin, opening Monday. There will be a matinee tomorrow and two matinees next week, Wednesday and Saturday.

In the Pitt next week the bill will be "Bird in Hand," the John Drinkwater comedy that was presented here just recently by the same company that played in it for 63 weeks in New York.

The Best Similes of 1930

Constant and inconstant followers of this pillar probably have observed the numerous similes chronicled herein from column to column. All were suggested for inclusion in Frank J. Wilstach's Dictionary of Similes, one of the most diverting tomes published annually.

Playwrights, columnists, critics, scenarists, authors, writers and column contributors have contributed liberally to the column, and several hundred of the clever lines which first appeared here are now bound between covers to be inspected in the public libraries or at your nearest bookshop. Perhaps yours is among the following which we hastily selected from Mr. Wilstach's dictionary.

Unassertive as the twilight—J. Brooks Atkinson. . . . Plain statement of facts, like a yell from a dentist's office—Bugs Baer.

As foolish as a hairless Mexican dog lathering himself for a quick shave—Bugs Baer. . . . As foolish as sneezing into a pound of pepper—Baer.

As false as the manners of a gigolo—De Witt Benjamin. . . . As talkative as the dummy at bridge—Walter Buckley. . . . Has all the grace of a man caught in quicksand—Heywood Broun. . . . Her shoes left muddy marks, toe and heel, like fat exclamation points on the parquet—Katharine Brush. . . . Dropped like a bribery charge—Ted Cook.

About as popular as sand in spinach—Harry Beresford. . . . As harmless as war in the dictionary—Harry Beresford. . . . Tight as a wet knot—Harry Beresford. . . . Riding on her speedboat was like being a jockey to a comet—Irving S. Cobb. . . . My teeth look like a hobo's pocket comb—Bugs Baer. . . . Brief as snow—Conrad Aiken.

Revolvers going off all day like ginger beer bottles at a tee-total party—Louis Golding. . . . Shadeless as the sea—Stuart Henry.

Improbable as a frog's dream—Ben Hecht. . . . Absurd as a grasshopper's honeymoon—Ben Hecht. . . . As conventional as a Tiller girl—Weare Holbrook. . . . Alien to our present speech as Walter Winchell's professional vocabulary is to the farmers of Iowa—Harry Hansen.

The violinist squeaked like church shoes—Dorothy Herzog.

Begins talking the French language like drawing a stick along the pickets of a fence—Kenneth Harris.

Of no more service on a cold day than a veil in a blizzard—Don Herold. . . . She looked like the left turn on a red light—Edith Hudnall.

Quiet as words unspoken—Daniel Whitehead Hicky.

Poetry and prophecy comes to a man only occasionally—like a sore throat—Lawrence Housman. . . . About as fair as poison gas at a children's picnic—Arthur James. . . . She had an eye like a cafeteria cashier—Judge.

Plentiful as chewed pencils at income tax time—B. C. Kiesling. . . . As busy as lipstick at a college dance—B. C. Kiesling.

She takes to ermine and square emeralds like a sea lion takes to the ocean—Fay King. . . . Alive like a tree in spring—D. H. Lawrence.

As careless as the girl who didn't know whether her lips were chapped or calloused—William Cunningham.

As full of humor as an income tax report—Courtney Ryley Cooper.

Intimate as a garter—Howard Deitz. . . . Like an interesting woman—good and bad—Jane S. Davis. . . . Pathetic as burlesque girls trying to look aesthetic in an art tableau—Paul De Jerenis.

They drew away from each other like a pair of lovers in a movie theater when the lights go on—Izzy Elinson.

Happy as a garage man's dog—F. Scott Fitzgerald.

His ideals were about as high as a lower berth—B. J. Ferney.

My account with my broker looked like a blood transfusion—Texas Guinan. . . . This article bristles with I's like toothpicks on the cashier's desk in a cheap lunchroom—Montagu Glass.

This world of ours has been constructed like a superbly written novel; we pursue the tale with avidity, hoping to discover the plot—Sir Arthur Keith. . . . Humor can hit or miss—like a fight in a kitchen—Bert Lahr. . . . As commonplace as a garter to a bus conductor—Life.

Life without love is like swimming without water—The London Sketch. . . . Light as an angel's feather—William J. Locke.

Discordant as the testimony of six darkies in a police court—H. L. Mencken. . . . His smile was like the hard smoothness of cake icing about to crack—Nancy Barr Mabity.

As neglected as a hitching post—James Miller. . . . Open minds, like open doors, often lead to empty interiors—James Miller.

Rare as a one-syllable word in the late William Bolitho's vocabulary—Samuel Marx. . . . Scarcer than bow-legs in the "Follies"—Isabel B. Myers. . . . Sentimental as a baby's shoes—Edward L. McKenna.

Wilted as a girl coming home after an evening in a scenic railway—Elsie McCormick. . . . About as convincing as a chorus man's suit for alienation of affections—George Jean Nathan.

Her hand was like a warm poached egg—Kathleen Norris.

Her heart was as cold as a street-sweeper's fingertips in February—Rose Natkins. . . . Curious as the person who reads the contract on the back of a telegraph blank—H. I. Phillips. . . . Her mind was like a room that never had the windows open—Ursula Parrot. . . . About as much applause as a motorcycle cop gets for a ticket—Variety.

MOTHER LOVE EASES TRAGEDY OF LIFE IN WARNER

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

A glimpse of life through tear-stained windows. This is "Mothers Cry," screen version of the Helen Grace Carlisle novel, which opened yesterday in the Warner. It is tragic melodrama, softened with the theme of mother love.

It starts off with the days of horse-cars and flannel nightgowns, and it traces, with searching photographic strokes, the hope and dispair of a family. The father passes from the scene early, leaving the mother the care of four children—a blacksheep son, a home-loving daughter, a faithful son and a wayward daughter.

EXTRAVAGANT SORROW

One scene stands out as an effective bit of daring on the part of the movie-makers. It involves a woman, a purse and a small bottle. It makes for an episode of deep significance. But it were better, perhaps, if it were omitted. It adds to the film's realism. But it adds nothing to its worth.

Tragedy is extravagant in the film. There is more sorrow than generally falls the lot of most families. Yet, it is a true picture of life. Its cruel sadness is reflected every day in newspaper headlines. Its sense of security in family life is reflected every night in lights that glimmer from homes everywhere.

UNCERTAINTY OF FUTURE

The story, though episodical, is told effectively. It registers the uncertainty that is attached to all life. Already, when the first son is born, there is foreboding along with mother love. He has red hair like a great uncle who ran away, someone says. And right then the audience knows, or should know, that tragedy lurks in the reels and years that are ahead.

The cast, including Dorothy Peterson, Edward Woods, Evalyn Knapp, David Manners and Helen Chandler, could give more fully to some of the characters. Yet, in many ways, it is quite sufficient. It makes the family convincingly alive.

In fact, everything is alive in this film—even the house itself. It comes to know laughter and tears. And like the mother it seems calmed with "the struggle of life" at the end.

POWELL WEARS NEW SHOES AND SINGS IN ENRIGHT

By MILDRED FILLMORE

When the average man buys a pair of shoes it is just an expense. But when a master of ceremonies buys new shoes it is an event. At least that's the way it was yesterday afternoon at the premiere of the new Enright stage show. Some of the girls in the front row discovered Mr. Powell was sporting new footwear. And they had quite a time of it—giggling and talking about it.

"Syncopated Weddings" is what the stage offers. "Man to Man" is the screen bill.

MR. HOLMES STRUGGLES

In the footlight show Mr. Powell sings about "Old-Fashioned Girl" and dresses up like a bridegroom. In the picture, Phillips Holmes, with that shock of hair of his under perfectly-combed control, is seen as a young fellow, who struggles to regain faith in his father, a murderer.

The stage show has some keen dancing and some comedy. It seems to us, however, that the management of such community theaters as the Enright, with many school children among its patronage, should be exceedingly zealous in seeing that nothing with a tinge of vulgarity or suggestiveness creeps into its shows.

The film, "Man to Man," is based on Ben Williams' story, "Barber John's Boy." It is a little picture without much "depth," but it succeeds in arousing some interest.

APPEAL PASTOR DEATH CLAIM

Contesting payment of compensation for the death of a minister, fatally injured in an automobile accident while returning to his church after a speaking engagement, the State Workmen's Insurance Fund yesterday filed an appeal with the Pennsylvania Workmen's Compensation Board here.

Mrs. Mary J. Shimp, Latrobe, widow of the Rev. William M. Shimp, pastor of the Kecksburg circuit of churches, had asked compensation. The Western Pennsylvania Eldership of the Church of God was defendant. The appeal taken yesterday opposes the claim of the widow.

The appellant declares the pastor was not in the regular course of employment when injured. The case is one of 98 appeals being heard here this week.

DAY DENIES DRY LAW CORRUPTS

Corruption cannot be laid to prohibition, the Rev. Dr. Albert E. Day declared before the Monarch Club luncheon yesterday in the William Penn Hotel, declaring the evils existed before the dry law. Asserting that youth as he finds it today is more serious-minded about the problems of living and that the few who have gone wrong can place their downfall at the doors of their elders, Dr. Day said:

"It is to wonder why so few have gone wrong when we older people fail to solve our social problems. Prohibition is not to blame. The lowering of social ideals, hostile study of the Bible, assault by rotten movies on youths' morals and the new psychology are responsible for the downfalls. The wave of corruption is but a mere recurrence of what goes on every so many years. Prohibition has suffered from this corruption rather than been responsible for it."

ASSAILS CRITICS OF TOWNSHIPS

A statement by Judge Arthur J. Lacy, chairman of the property owners' division of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, in which he urged abolition of the township as an "obsolete unit," was criticized by William E. Armstrong, president of the Allegheny County Association of Township Commissioners, in Wilkes-Barre. Armstrong spoke at the closing session of the convention of the State Association of Township Commissioners. He said in part:

"From his indiscriminate use of the term 'township' it is quite evident that the judge is unfamiliar with first class townships of Pennsylvania. Practically all townships embrace large areas and in no instance are they dependent on the state's revenues to sustain them, as was charged by Judge Lacy."

The Twentieth Century Club gave a demonstration of that most unique instrument, the theremin, in a concert yesterday afternoon. So far, it is the spookiest of all recent inventions in the musical world, a close relative of the radio, and is played by merely waving the hands close to two electrically charged antennae, one to control pitch, the other for volume.

J. Fred Lissfelt

The possibilities of the instrument itself seem to be fully developed, and its musical success must depend on the skill of the player, on sense of pitch and security of the melody hand. Myrtle O. Disher waved her hands gracefully enough, but her music had all the features that we try to avoid in performing good music, bad intonation, and inevitable slurring of tone. How the latter can be avoided is still a mystery to everyone who watched.

Letha Frazier Rankin, soprano, sang several groups of songs with a simple and pretty voice, proving right there that no machine can ever supplant the human personality. Earl Mitchell played accompaniments.

FIRM TO ORDER BARGE FLEET

Reports were current today among members that several contracts from individuals concerning for the building of barges will be let within the next few months. Capt. William B. Rodgers, president of the McCrady-Rodgers Company, stated that he was in the market for a fleet of 10 standard steel barges of the deck type for transportation of sand and gravel on local rivers.

According to Capt. Rodgers the barges will cost approximately $140,000, or $14,000 each. They will be 135 feet long, 27 feet wide and 7 feet 6 inches deep. They will have a carrying capacity of 800 tons and will require 1,500 tons of steel plates and shapes.

TRAFFIC POLICE SCHOOL URGED

The Better Traffic Committee at its special meeting yesterday approved a request for a traffic officers' school. Five officers selected by the Bureau of Police are to be sent by the committee to observe traffic officers' schools in other cities. These men would form the nucleus for a teaching staff in the committee's proposed school in Pittsburgh.

The committee also approved the 60-day trial elimination of five straight stops and a recommendation that Diamond street be made one-way at the lower end. The committee's antiskidding ordinance and its traffic code were approved for resubmission to City Council.

SALE OF ALTON CONFIRMED

CHICAGO, Jan. 9. (AP)—Trains of the "Alton" still run.

Despite the sale of the old Chicago and Alton Railroad to the Baltimore and Ohio, it will continue to operate, but under the name of the Alton Railroad Corporation, as a unit of the B. & O.

Federal Judge George Carpenter confirmed the sale yesterday and granted a petition assigning the road from the purchasers to the newly-formed corporation, capitalized at $25,000,000 subject to previous obligations of $50,000,000.

Although United States Senator Otis F. Glenn, of Illinois, counsel for protesting stockholders of the C. & A. described the deal as "the most sordid in the history of railroad financing," the court denied the right to enter an intervening petition. Judge Carpenter said the stockholders submitted no reorganization plan during eight years and that they had no right to attempt to become partners of the purchasers.

Retiring Belgian Ambassador Sails

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Prince Albert De Ligne, retiring Belgian ambassador to the United States, sailed for home with his wife and two daughters.

He said:

"At present I am without a diplomatic post. There have been reports that I am to go to Rome. I cannot affirm this news, but if I am offered the post at the Quirinal I probably will accept it."

ITALIAN FLIERS DELAY FLIGHT

NATAL, Brazil, Jan. 9.—(INS)—Gen. Italo Balbo, commander of the Italian fleet of seaplanes which flew from Italy by way of Africa and the South Atlantic, announced today that the hop to Bahia would not be attempted until tomorrow.

The 11 planes in the squadron will fly to Rio de Janeiro via Bahia, where a short stop will be made.

ROME, Jan. 9.—(INS)—The official report of Gen. Balbo commander of the air fleet which flew from Italy to South America, revealed today that the possibility of the loss of three out of the 12 machines originally picked to cross the ocean to Brazil was foreseen by officers and men.

$50,000 LIPTON GIFT TO POOR

GLASGOW, Scotland, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Sir Thomas Lipton gave the city of Glasgow $50,000 for distribution among the poor mothers and children in his native city.

He made the gift, he said, in memory of his mother and in appreciation of the "many kindnesses" he had received from the city.

Seventy-four guests sat down with President and Mrs. Hoover in the state dining room, taxing that spacious chamber to its capacity.

Silver badges denoting 25 years' membership were given to D. H. Sries and A. A. Owens. Bronze badges were given 28 others who have been union members for 15 years.

How "Scrappy" Lambert Keeps Coughs from Going On The Air

HAROLD "SCRAPPY" LAMBERT

The famous tenor crooner, "Scrappy" Lambert says, "It's risky to start a program on the air without a safe, quick cough remedy close at hand—one that can relieve a cough and clear up every trace of hoarseness."

That's why he uses Pertussin. It is quick and sure. Broadcasting studios use it. It is entirely free from narcotics and injurious drugs—is safe even for children. Doctors have prescribed Pertussin for more than twenty-five years because it gets at the cause of the irritation. This is coughing weather. Better watch out! Stop in at any druggist's for a bottle of Pertussin.

RAMP FIGHT PUT UP TO KLINE, COUNCIL

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

By William Pfarr

Mr. Pfarr

True story. They're married and prominent. For Christmas he gave her a diamond bracelet, she gave him an expensive watch.

They went out New Year's eve. While dancing she lost the bracelet. She said nothing.

After he had imbibed he discovered his watch was missing. He kept quiet.

The next day she went down to Central Police Station and asked Detective Howard (Doc) Forner to watch the pawnshops for her bracelet.

The following day he went to see Forner and asked that the pawnshops be scoured for his watch.

She told Forner she wanted to keep the loss secret from her husband.

Forner's afraid that some day they'll bump into each other in his office.

To Attorney Jake Shulgold and Joe Miller we are indebted for a story which will result in the fracture of countless New Year's resolutions. To save the quotation marks, the story is told in the fashion of Eugene O'Neill's plays.

Incidentally, if you have never seen Attorney Shulgold's right thumb you have missed one of the town's sights. His thumb stands out like a sore thumb, and this is why: Last summer Shulgold and Judge Foster, attending the reunion of the Eightieth Division at Johnstown, sought relief by going for a swim. They were sitting on the side of a public pool when the counsellor saw a young woman struggling in water which barely reached her head. Shulgold dove in, swam to the drowning beauty and pushed her to safer regions. In the pushing his thumb clicked out of joint. It's still that way, and it's his proudest possession.

George Anonymous writes in to suggest that a certain R. V. Winkle be named postmaster of the Town Hall.

Add vaudeville reminiscences: A Gastonville lady ("Don't mention my name as I don't want anyone to know how old I am") wants to know whether you remember Marie Dressler, at the old Grand, in an act wherein she lost her "rats" . . . Mary Hall riding a donkey in "Taming of the Shrew" at the Duquesne . . . Chauncey Olcott singing "Mavourneen" . . . The late Dennie Harris, at the Duquesne, never lauching at his own jokes . . . Harry Davis standing in the lobby of the Grand and being pointed out as the man who owned the place . . .

Wife Seeks Divorce On Cruelty Charge

Mrs. Elizabeth Kilpatrick, 348 Meyran avenue, has filed suit for divorce in Common Pleas Court against David W. Kilpatrick, 918 M street, Washington, whom she charged with cruelty. They were married October 26, 1926.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Jan. 9.

Don't get a farmer who is hollering for food mixed up with a Red, who is hollering for devilment.

Will Rogers

Yesterday's paper had some pretty bright news in it. It wasn't anybody's "prediction." It was that over 100,000 men had just been put to work. That's not five million, but it's a start.

An awful lot of new governors going to be sworn in this week and next. Now if we can just keep 'em from wanting to go to the Senate, they are liable to make good men.

Yours, WILL.

HIS MEXICAN ART

COUNT RENE d'HARNONCOURT WITH LARGE INCENSE BURNER

Count d'Harnoncourt, writer, artist, collector, with one of the items in his collection of Mexican art. It's an incense burner used in marriage rites. The other tidbits are unusual and artistic toys.

Mexican Art on Display Here Reflects Entire Culture of Nation

By PENELOPE REDD.

Mexico enters the Carnegie Institute as international art through the door of diplomacy, sponsored by a one-time resident of Pittsburgh, Senator Dwight Morrow, and financed through a fund established by another Pittsburgh citizen, Andrew Carnegie.

The exhibition with its thousand or more objects ranges the centuries from the sixteenth to the present, and thus presents the problem of reviewing the entire culture of a nation.

Count Rene d'Harnoncourt, responsible for the collection, has assembled decorative arts in textile, pottery, lacquer, leather, metals, and many unique mediums, as well as paintings and sculptures.

Penelope Redd

He has ordered these souvenirs which represent a nation's emotional moments in religion, in sentiment, in casual amusements, or in ritualistic fiesta moods, and also objects devised for the uses of every day life, into sequences revealing the Mexican people as one to whom creative design served every occasion.

COPIES EXCLUDED

Count d'Harnoncourt has excluded all that is not Mexican. Copies from Spanish and French objects of the fine and decorative arts which were admired and acquired by the Mexican upper classes from conquest days onward have been deliberately ignored.

Churches in provinces remote from Mexico City and Indian villages in the mountains have yielded treasure enough for an ethnologist's paradise.

The exhibition, in point of creative design, commences with a fragment of pottery lent by Robert Weitlaner, an Austrian archaeologist. This scrap, found with kitchen middens of pre-Conquest design, reveals the tentative meeting of the cultures of conquered and conqueror in the double-eagle of Charles V of Spain as the central motif of the fragment while an ancient Aztec geometric design loiters in the borders.

AZTEC CONCEPTION

Commenting on the designs, Count d' Harnoncourt said:

"The Aztec conception of design has remained with the Mexicans down to the work of today's youngest school child. This design differs from that of any other race. The dominant principle is the consistent regard for length and breadth. There is no attempt to reproduce depth as an optical experience.

"This gives to all Mexican design the sensation of breadth as the distinctive and persistent characteristic, whether the design be expressed in sculpture, textile, pottery or painting.

The decorative arts, which contribute such significance to this exhibition, cannot be discussed individually in so brief a review.

From a United States American's point of view, accustomed to art as a business, Mexican American painters and sculptors appear topsy-turvy.

WORKMEN ARTISTS

The Mexican sculptors are janitors, gardeners or school children, without benefit of secretaries and business representatives. The painters are variously teachers of literature, Communists

DRIVER HELD IN AUTO WRECK

Both Machines Fail to Round Irvine Street Curve; Man Hurt Fleeing After Crash

Two wrecks within two hours at the same intersection sent Hazelwood police to Greenfield avenue and Irvine street on two occasions this morning. In one accident three men were injured, one seriously. Police said machines in both accidents failed to negotiate the turn from Irvine street into Greenfield avenue.

The machine driven by Richard Boley, 35, of 110 Roundtop street, ran over the curb of Greenfield avenue and plunged into an excavation.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Boley, Thomas R. Stass, 30, of 513 Girley place, and Nicholas Donado, 43, of 325 Meyran avenue, passengers, were removed to Mercy Hospital. Donado suffered a possible skull fracture and body bruises; his companions were cut and bruised.

While the crew of a tow truck was removing Boley's car, another machine failed to make the turn and struck a pole in Greenfield avenue. Michael Waschak, 26, of 3437 McClure avenue, driver, was arrested on a reckless driving charge.

FUGITIVE'S AUTO UPSETS

When his car upset after hitting a parked machine while he was being pursued by Springdale police, Peter Knezevich, of Fountain street, Blawnox, was carried 30 feet with the automobile proceeding on its top. He was taken to Citizens' General Hospital, New Kensington, where police were told Knezevich had suffered a skull fracture and a shoulder fracture.

Knezevich's car was said by police to have sidewiped an automobile in Freeport road, Springfield Township, and to have struck, also, the machine of Dr. W. T. Holland, of Springdale, while it was parked in Freeport road, Springdale. Motorcycle Patrolman Harry Lloyd, of Springdale, placed a charge of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor against Knezevich.

BALKED THEFT; GETS OFFICE

Carl W. Heckert, general storekeeper at Bakerstown, who routed two burglars, wounding one of them, when they robbed his store, in which are the offices of the Bakerstown postoffice, Tuesday morning, has been appointed postmaster of that community. Announcement of his appointment has been made by the Postoffice Department. He succeeds William A. Boyle, resigned.

Heckert, who has been acting postmaster since Boyle's resignation, was aroused by a burglar alarm early Tuesday morning and upon investigation discovered two burglars in the store. He fired upon them with a shotgun and revolver, wounding one of them as they sped away.

State police Wednesday morning picked up two young men in Clarion County, who they say were the robbers routed by Heckert. Donald Fleming, 19, of Grove City, was brought to Pittsburgh and lodged in the county jail pending arraignment for the Bakerstown robbery. His companion, Merle Tearce, 19, also of Grove City, is in Franklin, being treated for bullet wounds suffered at Heckert's hands.

Chickens Stolen, Feather Trail Leads to Arrests

Traced by footprints for one and a half miles and by feathers for a mile, Thomas Dickson and W. P. Morris, both of House 15, Mollenauer, today were being held on charges of larceny of eight chickens from the coop of R. M. McAnuley of the Horning road, Bethel Township, following a hearing before Justice of the Peace C. W. Linepensel of Bethel Township last night.

Dickson was held also on a charge of violating the Snyder act after Constable Ben W. Smith, the arresting officer, testified liquor had been found in the prisoner's home.

Smith and McAnuley testified they followed footprints from the latter's chicken coop to tracks of the Montour Railroad, after which the trail consisted of fallen chicken feathers.

TELLING OF INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE

DR. AND MRS. JOHN R. BARTON . . . PROFESSOR OF SOCIOLOGY

Mr. Barton, speaker last night before the Women's City Club and this afternoon before the women's College Club, on International People's College founded and operating at Elinsore, Denmark.

SPEAKS TO AID WORLD SCHOOL

The little town of Elsinore, Denmark, scene of the famous ghost walk in Shakespeare's "Hamlet," is now the home of the International People's College, founded to promote international good-will and peace.

John R. Barton, educator and lecturer, instructor of sociology in the college, and his wife, Rebecca Chalmers Barton, teacher of literature at the same school, are in Pittsburgh in the interest of the university. Barton addressed the Women's City Club last night on "The International People's College in Relation to the European Situation." This afternoon he spoke at the College Club. Mr. and Mrs. Barton are staying at the home of Mrs. Clinton S. Bradley, of 222 Carnegie place, Homewood, a member of the American committee of the college.

Nearly 2,000 students from 29 nationalities have already studied at the school. It was founded in 1921 by Peter Manniche, a graduate of the University of Copenhagen. The college, the only international center in Europe, seeks to exchange studies and teachers from various countries and thus overcome extreme nationalism and the sectional provincial mind which retards Europe's international progress.

North Side Estate Left Widow, Son

Elmer E. Herman, North Side undertaker, left an estate of $15,000, according to his will filed today for probate. He leaves his business at 702 East Ohio street to his son, Percy E. Herman, and the remainder to his wife, Nellie. The two are named executors.

SEEK OUTLET AT FEDERAL EXPENSE

Committee Sees Tangle at New Postoffice Without Additional Improvement

Mayor Charles H. Kline and members of City Council will be asked by the Better Traffic Committee to lead an active campaign to obtain the inclusion of the Grant street ramp in the new postoffice plans at government expense.

The committee in taking this action yesterday indicated it had exhausted its own resources in dealing with government officials. It was brought out that the city will be compelled to use its own funds to procure a usable entrance for trucks to the federal building unless the authorities at Washington can be persuaded to act.

WHITER SEES DIFFICULTIES

E. T. Whiter, assistant vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, asked to be recorded as not voting on the resolution. He pointed out that building the ramp would require purchase of additional land from the railroad, and said it would block the inbound pedestrian and automobile lanes to the present passenger station.

This difficulty is only temporary, Whiter pointed out, saying there is no reason why the ramp could not be constructed later. He said the railroad will be willing to do everything possible to aid in solving the traffic problem.

Edward B. Lee in presenting the resolution pictured traffic congestion he declared certain to result when more than 500 trucks a day attempt to make a left turn from Seventh avenue into the postoffice. He declared the attitude of government officials seems to consist of a determination to build the postoffice and let the city worry about the traffic.

SEPARATE JOB

Lee emphasized that no delay of building operations on the postoffice need result from studying the ramp proposition. The ramp may be considered as an entirely separate job and may be built after the postoffice is finished.

No off-street parking facilities are provided for in the plans of the postoffice. Virtually all of the basement of the proposed building is taken up with railroad tracks for the handling of heavy mail and parcel post.

AIDES NEEDED IN JOB CENSUS

Several experienced census enumerators who worked during the recent United States census are needed for the special unemployment census, James E. Routley, census supervisor announced today. The enumerators are needed for the North Side district, he said. Routley has opened headquarters in the American Bank Building and work will begin Thursday morning.

Routley appealed for co-operation with the enumerators. He said:

"Since the special census of unemployment serves as a basis for bringing the unemployment total up to date, it is necessary that the canvass be accurate and complete. It is in the interest of everyone to co-operate in every way possible in this canvass. The solution of unemployment requires an accurate knowledge of basic facts. The securing of these facts is the sole purpose of this census."

CLEARED IN FINAL CASE

Dockets of Criminal Court were cleared of charges pending against Arthur Volpe, Wilmerding politician, today following an opinion of Judge J. Frank Graff, of Armstrong County, in which he freed Volpe, convicted October 9 of owning a gambling device.

The last of the long list of cases which had been pending against members of the Volpe family, whose political activities had led to many court battles, was ended on motion of Defense Counsel Frank J. Zappala.

Judge Graff, in his opinion, pointed out that not only was there insufficient evidence to convict, but also said that in returning its verdict, the jury ignored the indictment against him which contained three counts of operating gambling devices, and three counts of being a common gambler.

District Attorney Andrew Park has only one statement to make regarding the case. He said that the state's only witness, Tony Winkler, failed to tell the story he first told authorities before the case came up.

'Payday' Oliver Gets Six Months in Jail

Frank (Payday) Oliver, convicted of violation of the liquor laws, today was fined $500 and sentenced to six months in the county jail by Federal Judge Schoonmaker, and David Hamilton, who pleaded guilty, was fined $500 and sentenced to two months in jail.

Agents reported that they engaged in a gun battle with Oliver last April after they had found 950 gallons of moonshine, they said he owned, in a house in Gallatin. Hamilton was described as one of Oliver's aides.

Church Club Plans To Present Comedy

Members of the Dramatic Club of the Madonna of Jerusalem Church, Sharpsburg, will present "The Belle of Barcelona," a three-act musical comedy, Monday night in the auditorium of the Sharpsburg High School. The proceeds will be used to defray the cost of the new organ, recently installed in the church.

BRIDGE BUILDER SUES COUNTY

Benno Janssen, architect who planned and supervised construction of the Washington Crossing Bridge, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court against Allegheny County for $68,122, which he claims is owed him for extra work and expenses due to delay in construction of the span.

The bridge cost $2,207,220. Janssen says he was to receive 6 per cent, or $132,433. He says he received all but $970, which balance he includes in his claim for extras. He declares there was a delay of two and a half years because of a change of location that required the taking of a part of the Arsenal property of the United States government. He claims $30,750 for services not covered by contract, $22,000 for extra work and $12,122 for delay. He also sets forth that he rendered valuable service in obtaining $110,000 each from the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio Railroad companies towards construction of the bridge.

DR. SPEER TALK SCHEDULED

Dr. Robert E. Speer, of New York, general secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, was scheduled to address a meeting of the Men's Club of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church today in the William Penn Hotel. Dr. Speer, a former moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, was to speak on "Missions Under Fire."

Bird Census Shows Scarcity of Quail

A bird census made by the Audubon Society of Western Pennsylvania shows that there are approximately as many species of birds in Schenley Park as there are at Rock Run, Frick Park, Deer Creek, or the south bank of the Ohio River.

A scarcity of quail has been reported by the society. Two years ago, according to officials, they were reported as common.

Lawmakers' Help Asked For Birth Control Bill

An appeal to state senators and representatives of the district to support a birth control bill at Harrisburg was issued today by the Birth Control League of Allegheny County.

The action was decided upon at an executive board meeting yesterday in the organization's headquarters, 804 Wabash Building, after the Pennsylvania Birth Control Federation assured support in any move for legislation.

Contending the present law permits a physician legally to issue information to married persons, the board will seek passage of a bill that would define the legal status clearly. The appeal to legislators will likewise seek one to introduce the measure.

Indorsement of Mrs. Margaret Sanger's appearance at the Y. M. & W. H. A. auditorium January 21 was given by the board.

FIREMAN HURT, TWO FAMILIES ROUTED BY HILLTOP BLAZE

CHILDREN, ILL MAN RESCUED FROM HOMES

Duplex on Mt. Washington Swept by Flames; New House Wrecked by Blast

A fireman was injured and six persons, including an invalid and two children, were endangered this morning when fire swept a two-story brick duplex at 52 Leclede street, Mt. Washington. Capt. Albert Ott, of No. 17 Engine Company, estimates the damage at $6,000.

Capt. Ott

Capt. Ott was dazed and partially overcome by smoke when struck on the head by falling plaster. He was treated at the Mercy Hospital and then returned to duty.

Members of the family of A. B. Fleck, including his wife, a son, Paul 7, and a daughter, June, 18 months, were routed as was Harry E. Fitch and his wife. Rose. Fitch is an invalid, it was said.

FIREMEN SAVE MATE

Fleck, residing on the first floor, was aroused by smoke in the bedroom. He awakened his wife and children and took them to the front porch and then ran to the second floor and awakened Mr. and Mrs. Fitch. He aided Fitch to the street. Members of the two families were then cared for at the home of a neighbor.

According to Capt. Ott the fire originated in the basement. The flames spread upward and had gained considerable headway before being discovered. Capt. Ott said that the Fitch quarters on the second floor were damaged $3,000 and the Fleck apartment, $3,000.

Mr. McCann

Capt. Ott was descending the stairs from the second to the first floor when falling plaster struck him on the head. He was dragged to the street by Fireman Alvin J. McCann, of No. 17 Company, and removed in a police patrol to the hospital.

BLAST WRECKS HOUSE

An explosion, which firemen and police believed was due to gas, followed by fire, caused damage estimated at $14,000 to a newly finished two-family brick house in 1098 Melrose avenue, Ambridge, early today. The building had not been occupied, police said.

The explosion, police said, blew out the entire front and a part of the rear walls, while the side walls of the structure caved in. Several windows in the vinegar plant of H. J. Heinz Company in Melrose avenue were shattered, police said.

Police today were investigating a report of firemen that a gas pipe on the second floor of the building had been found with a cap off.

Damage estimated by firemen at $3,000 was caused by fire in a two-story frame building in 603 Chartiers avenue, McKees Rocks, late yesterday. Most of the damage was to Grant's poolroom occupying the first floor. A family occupying the second floor was routed by the flames.

North Side firemen were called out on a still alarm late last night to extinguish a fire in the basement of the home of Henry Berner, at 1812 Peralto street. The cause of the fire is undetermined and, according to the report of North Side police, the damage was estimated at $300. The fire was confined to the basement.

Here is the Sun-Telegraph Automobile Puzzle Contest, based on passenger cars to be exhibited in the forthcoming annual Automobile Show to be held at Motor Square Garden, January 17 to 24, inclusive.

One or two puzzle pictures, in each of which will be concealed the name of an automobile and in each of which are hidden several words, will be published every day in the daily and Sunday Sun-Telegraph.

Readers of the Sun-Telegraph are invited to find the names of the automobiles and to name the hidden words in each puzzle and send them to the Auto Show Contest Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, 612 Grant street, together with a good slogan, descriptive of the Automobile Show. YOU MUST SEND ALL YOUR ANSWERS AT THE SAME TIME IN ONE ENVELOPE AT THE COMPLETION OF THE CONTEST. ACCURACY, NEATNESS AND CLEVERNESS OF SLOGAN WILL BE CONSIDERED IN AWARDING THE PRIZES.

CONTESTANTS ARE NOT TO SEND IN ANSWERS UNTIL THE FINAL PUZZLE PICTURES HAVE BEEN PRINTED. THEN SEND THEM IN ALL TOGETHER AT THE SAME TIME. WRITE THE NAMES OF THE CARS ON SEPARATE SHEETS OF PAPER WITH THE HIDDEN WORDS OF EACH PICTURE IN THE ORDER IN WHICH THE PICTURES APPEARED.

Prizes totaling $300 in gold and 200 show tickets are to be awarded the winners in the contest. Be sure to put your name and address with the slogan at the top of the first page. Your name should appear on each page you send in.

Your slogan must accompany the answers. It may be either rhyme or prose and should be applicable to the Automobile Show. It must be short, snappy and clever. Remember, it is an important factor in deciding the winners.

The final pictures will be published January 15. All answers must be in the hands of the Auto Show Contest Editor no later than noon, Friday, January 16. The winners will be announced at the Automobile Show, Monday evening, January 19, and in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, January 20.

At various times during the contest, the names of passenger cars to be exhibited at the show will be printed. From this list contestants are to pick the names of the cars.

ART REFLECTS CULTURE

intermittently free of jail, diplomats or other assorted professions. Monumental murals have been painted by a man with one arm. Another has transcribed the uncensored life of his day in great wall paintings, for the wages of a day laborer.

No organized art world such as United States' Americans know, yet the Mexican-American artists to whom pure design is a native idiom have created what may yet prove the archetype of all modern American art.

The United States has been aware of individual Mexican artists in the persons of Diego Rivera and Orozco, both of whom have influenced American mural painters, and have also executed major mural paintings in the United States.

Among the easel painters, Julio Castellanos, a very young man, combines in his "Two Women and a Child," the qualities desired by the more famous modernists, with unconscious grace in addition.

From gravest religious object to the most capricious toy, the entire Mexican exhibition shows a freedom from inhibition in regard to design that compresses centuries of decorative art into a span that may be comprehended by one's own imagination, tethered to today.

CONSTABLE DIES OF RUM RAID WOUND

Wyke Succumbs to Bullet Injury Inflicted by Aged Bootlegger Who Killed Self

Charles Wyke, 52, raiding constable of South Heights, Beaver County, died early today in the Valley Hospital, Sewickley, from a bullet wound in the back inflicted by Robert Fielding, 74, twice convicted bootlegger when he attempted to raid Fielding's home Monday.

Fielding, a former British soldier, killed himself immediately after the shooting by firing a bullet through his brain.

Fielding, after his convictions for violation of the liquor laws, had threatened to shoot the next officer that would come to raid his home, Beaver County authorities said.

Wyke, accompanied by Deputy John Haggerty, approached the front door of the Fielding residence and demanded admittance after exhibiting a search warrant. Fielding was on the back porch. His wife, Mrs. Lucy Fielding, 64, urged the raiders to leave.

When Wyke refused, Fielding dashed to the front door with an automatic pistol and fired twice. One bullet passed through Haggerty's trousers and the other struck Wyke.

A fact you should not overlook

MORE red-cells in the blood! Good health and resistance to infection and disease, depend on that. If a lowered red-cell count is allowed to continue, ANEMIA often results.

S.S.S. should be your safeguard. A hundred years of experience has proved its usefulness in building red-cells in the blood. Take it before meals. Millions of people have found it the easiest and surest way to restore their red-blood-cells. The appetite picks up, the whole body is strengthened, invigorated! Get S.S.S.—take it and possess a wonderful power of new life and vitality. Ask for the large size. At all drug stores. © S.S.S. Co.

How to recognize a low blood count

Blood is Life! You cannot count your own red blood-cells—that is technical! But you should know that they are the "ships" that sail in the blood and carry nourishment to all parts of the body. Also, they remove impurities from the tissues.

You can recognize a lowered count by the way you look and feel—such as body weakness, lack of appetite, underweight, paleness, sallow complexion, boils and pimples. They may indicate that you need S.S.S.

S.S.S.—the great blood tonic—stimulates the blood-building organs to supply the necessary red-cells. If your vitality and clear skin are slipping away from you, try S.S.S.

(Right) Anemic red-blood-cells—only 60 per cent of normal strength—they lack the power to resist infection and disease or to rebuild flesh.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Betty Lupton Scott Weds George R. Bailey in Church Ceremony

Everybody was at the wedding yesterday, I feel I can say without exaggeration. And of course the wedding of yesterday I'm about to describe was that of popular Betty Lupton Scott, daughter of the James King Scotts, of Devon road, and George Reily Bailey, son of the Edward Baileys, of Harrisburg.

The ceremony took place at 5:30 o'clock in the Shadyside Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Dilworth Lupton of Cleveland, uncle of the bride officiating, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, pastor of Shadyside.

Calla lilies against a background of ciboltum ferns decorated the church, lighted by white tapers in six seven-branched candelabra.

Lovely Is The Bride

In keeping with the exquisitely picturesque bride's costume were those of the attendants. They wore exquisite gowns of white chiffon velvet, having capes forming brief sleeves, a peplum effect, and long full skirts ending in brief trains. They wore sticking hats of scarlet velvet in the off-the-face mode with a long scarlet willow plume as the only trimming. And their slippers were scarlet satin. They carried calla lillies tied with white tulle and silver.

* * *

Mrs. John H. Ricketson III, the former Anne King Scott, was her sister's matron of honor, and Genevieve Lord Bell, Mrs. David Meade Gilmore, Virginia Long Goldsbury, Mrs. Thomas J. Hilliard, Mrs. Edmund Ford Mogeland, Mrs. Oliver and Mrs. Marshall Hall Standish, III, and Ruth Mitchell of St. Paul, Minn., a cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids.

Bridal Party

Two of the most charming members of the bridal party were the two flower girls, nieces of the bridegroom, Kate Crichton, daughter of the Powell Crichton, of Bronxville, and Martha Gross, daughter of the Henry M. Grosses, of Harrisburg. Their old-fashioned frocks were of white taffeta, made with off-the-shoulder necklines, puff sleeves, high waistlines and demure long skirts. And their hats were quaint white taffeta pokes. They carried old-fashioned bouquets.

John Sherwin, Jr., of Cleveland, was Mr. Bailey's best man, and William S. Bailey, of Harrisburg, a cousin of the bridegroom, Archibald Marshall Bell, Jr., Edward M. Green, Jr., of Chicago, Ill., Thomas J. Hilliard, Raleigh Knapp, of Baltimore, Erard A. Mathiessen, of New York, George Wolfe Reilly, III, of Harrisburg, John H. Ricketson, III, Jess Sweetser, of New York, William R. Scott, uncle of the bride, Stuart Symington, of Baltimore, and Edward B. Stettinius, Jr., of New York, were ushers.

Ushers at Wedding

A reception and dinner at the Pittsburgh Golf Club followed with ferns and crotons and calla lilies forming a background for the receiving party. The mother of the bride wore dark red chiffon embroidered in gold and a velvet hat of the same shade. The mother of the bridegroom chose bottle green chiffon with a hat to match.

The bride's table in the shape of a large U was covered with cloth of silver and decorated with calla lilies and stevia and lighted by white tapers in crystal holders. Calla lilies and twin white tapers decorated the smaller tables. Following a wedding trip the Baileys will be at home in Harrisburg.

And now I want to tell you about some of the many, many guests at the wedding. Madeline Alexander, the [illegible] debutante, was there wearing a [illegible] with turquoise [illegible] crepe at the neck and wrists and a black velvet hat, and her mother, Mrs. Maitland Alexander, chose a black broadtail coat with hat to match and a turquoise blue crepe gown. I caught a glimpse of Nancy Brown and of Marjorie Kimball in a smart black Russian caracul coat and a black bicorne hat.

Mrs. Jack Bissell I saw. Elizabeth Jenkins and her mother, Mrs. T. Clifton Jenkins, Katharine Frazer and Mrs. Frederick T. Billings.

Mrs. Frederick Gwinner, III, chose a black ensemble and Mrs. Herbert A. May wore a hunter's green felt hat and a mink coat. I saw Priscilla Hall, wearing a moleskin coat with a muff to match, and a black felt hat.

Others I saw were Margaret Brainard, Mrs. John W. Lawrence, Mrs. Kelly B. Snowdon, Mary Childs Christie, Mrs. McKelvy, in a black cloth coat with a Persian lamb scarf collar and a black felt hat; Mrs. George P. Bassett, Jr., and the Reginald Macdonalds. Mrs. Wilmer Jacoby wore a black straw tricorne hat with a willow plume and a black ensemble.

Black Is Favorite

I saw Mary Franklin Robinson waiting for her car after the ceremony. She wore an orange crepe gown with a beige caracul coat.

Mrs. Alan Magee Scaife wore a black cloth coat with fitch collar and a black and white velvet hat. I had a glimpse of Mary McClung in a brown ensemble, of Margaret Stewart, Mrs. H. H. McClintic, Jr., and Frances Fitzgerald, who wore an orange crepe gown with a felt hat to match. Others I noticed were Nancy Allderdice, Louise Reed, Mrs. W. Edgar Reed, Mrs. T. Howe Nimick, in a red crepe gown with a velvet hat in the same shade; Mary Black, Mrs. B. R. Shriver, Mrs. James Verner Scaife, in black; Mrs. Lewis A. Park and Mrs. T. M. Jones III.

Mrs. Richard Beatty Mellon wore hunter's green crepe with a felt hat to match; Virginia Furey was there, as were Mrs. Reginald Quaile, Barbara Ewing, Laura Evans, Elinor Munroe and Ellen McClay.

International People's College Described to Woman's City Club

A college where the students (from 18 to 80 in years) learn to take the romance out of war and put it where it belongs, where they learn to discern and appreciate the things wherein nationalities differ, the only full time cultural international college in Europe—the International People's College of Elsinore, Denmark—was described to 150 members, husbands and guests of the Woman's City Club last night and to a capacity College Club audience this afternoon by Dr. John R. Barton, of its faculty.

Dr. Barton was introduced last night by Mrs. Clinton S. Bradley, who spent a short time at the People's College last summer and whose guests Dr. and Mrs. Barton are.

In beginning his talk, which was given after "a Scandinavian buffet supper," Dr. Barton sketched the national development of Denmark. The people, he said, have literally beaten their swords into butter fats, and in their last election a cut in preparedness was the winning factor. Having been prevented by the drubbing they received from Germany and Austria in 1864 from becoming a powerful nation, the Danes have turned their energies toward internal development, he said.

Denmark is one of the few nations that has lifted the peasants into a respectable middle class, and out of this move towards culture has grown the wide-spread high school movement (not to be confused with high schools as this country knows them), in which 0 per cent of the adult population has had at least one term.

Dr. Barton only hinted at the ch type of mentality to be found mong the People's College students, who come from all the ountries of the world and whose umber is kept small that individuality may be preserved.

LACE GOWNS RECOMMENDED FOR THE RESORT WARDROBE

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Jan. 9.—Lace is assured of many trips to the delectable Southland. Nearly every house is showing frocks of lace in various colors, weaves and combinations for wear when the lights gleam bright at the various casinos, restaurants and clubs that are such a feature of life as it is enjoyed along the Riviera. And so popular are these lovely lace frocks that we think there will be more than one in the wardrobe of every fair passenger on the famous Blue Train. There is that about lace that makes it ideal for Southern wear, especially when the occasion calls for a degree of formality that is usually met by more heavy and more opulent fabrics. Lace can be simple or it can be elaborate, but always manages to retain a gossamer charm that makes even the most stolid type acquire a vestige of ethereal grace. Net and lace is a most attractive combination and chiffon and lace merits its share of attention, but delicate lace without any other material is decidedly good, and is good for almost every type of occasion.

WE SHOW TODAY sketches of two lace frocks destined for a successful season down South. The first is by Lucile and is one of the daintiest models in the collection of this house. It is of ivory colored lace with a delicate hand-done tracery of gold all over the lace. Net is used for the plain borders and the bertha-like fichu is clasped with a delicately jeweled motif.

CALLOT IS THE MAKER of the other dainty dinner frock. It is of very fragile black lace of almost a cobwebby texture. A large open pattern of flowers and vine is scattered through the lace. On the lower part of the flaring skirt cut out motifs of large flowers are appliqued in relief on the design in the lace, giving a slightly puffy effect.

DOUBLE CAPES one at either shoulder, trim the back of the frock. Radiating pin-tucks gather in the fulness at the front of the waistline and a jeweled brooch is placed at the center of the tucks. A pink slip is worn beneath the black lace frock.

PRUDENCE PENNY'S RECIPES

A cup cake, crisp and brown and melting delicious, is a nice thing. Cover it with a chocolate or a cocoanut frosting or outline it with raisins or decorate its crisp top with nuts and candied fruits, and one couldn't ask for a daintier dish to serve at tea time.

The baking of cup cakes is a simple matter. Some cooks bake them in cup-shaped tins while others use the very stylish individual crimped paper cup. In the latter case, it is best to set the paper cups into the tins so that they will hold their shapes.

Here is a simple cup cake recipe with some suggestions for adequate frostings that are quick and easy to prepare.

CUP CAKES—1 2-3 cups sifted cake flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs well beaten, ½ cup milk, 1 teaspoon lemon or vanilla extract.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly and sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs then flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat well after each addition until smooth. Add flavoring. Pour into greased muffin pans, [illegible] cooked granular whole wheat cereal, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup milk, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1 egg, 1 cup cracker crumbs, 1 cup chopped pecans.

Mix the cereal, nut meats and cracker crumbs. Then add the beaten egg, milk and seasonings. Turn into a buttered bread pan, pour melted butter over the top and bake in a moderate oven 40 minutes. Turn out on a platter, pour around the following sauce and garnish with parsley.

SAUCE FOR NUT LOAF—Cook 3 tablespoons butter with 2 slices onion 3 minutes, stirring. Lift out onion, add 3 tablespoons flour and mix well. Add 1½ cups of milk and stir until it thickens. Add ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ cup chopped pimento.

PLATTERED SALMON—2 cups salmon, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 3 tablespoons melted butter, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, 1¼ cup buttered crumbs.

Mix all ingredients together, adding any liquid from can for moisture. Reserve crumbs for top. Spread mixture on a platter of oven glass or an old china platter. Sprinkle buttered crumbs over top and heat in broiling oven with a very low flame until salmon is hot and crumbs are brown, 10 to 12 minutes. Garnish with parsley and hard-cooked egg or lemon slices. Serve plain or with tomato or tartar sauce.

GRAHAM CRACKER PIE—Make a crust of the graham crackers by adding ¼ cup melted butter and ½ cup sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon to 2 cups fine graham cracker crumbs. Mix well and press into the bottom of a pie tin and against the sides of a well buttered tin. Bake 15 minutes in a slow oven. Fill with a prepared pudding filling, a cooked lemon cream filling or a custard filling. Top with meringue or whipped cream.

CHICKEN-MUSHROOM WAFFLES—Three tablespoons butter, ½ pound fresh mushrooms or 1½ cups canned mushrooms, 3 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups chicken soup with rice, 1½ cups milk or water, 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento, few grains pepper.

Melt butter, add mushroom caps, peeled and sliced, and cook slowly for 10 minutes. Add flour and stir to blend thoroughly. Add chicken soup, diluted with milk or water gradually, bring to boil and stir until mixture thickens slightly. Add pimiento and pepper to taste. Pour over freshly cooked waffles (or toasts), garnish with parsley and a bit of currant jelly and serve at once.

ESCALLOPED HAM AND POTATOES—One to 1¼ pounds slice of ham, 2 cups raw potatoes sliced very thin, ½ green pepper, 1½ cups (1 can) pea soup, ½ cup milk or water.

Soak ham 1 hour in lukewarm water. Drain off water, place ham in casserole and cover with potatoes, sprinkle with finely chopped green pepper. Over this pour the soup and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 1 hour, or until potatoes are soft. Remove cover during last part of baking and allow to brown. Garnish top with parsley.

STUFFED BAKED POTATOES—Allow a large potato for each person to be served. Bake the potatoes and when they are done cut the top off lengthwise and scoop out the pulp. Add to 2 cups of pulp 3 tablespoonfuls of hot milk or cream and a tablespoon of butter. Season with a teaspoonful of salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper and beat until creamy. Put into the shells again and brown quickly in the oven.

CHANTILLY POTATOES—Pile lightly 3 cups mashed potatoes onto a serving dish. Beat ½ cup heavy cream until stiff, and ½ cup grated cheese and season with salt and pepper. Spread over potatoes, place in hot oven and bake until cheese is melted and cream is delicately brown.

* * *

FRUIT MEAL SALAD—From a head of lettuce cut a slice ½ inch thick. Put on salad plate and center with a mound of cream cheese. Around this arrange sections of orange in cross formation. Place walnuts, raisins, almonds and dates each in one respective space between the orange sections. Serve chilled with whipped cream dressing.

AU GRATIN POTATOES—Peel and slice crosswise in thin slices

Banana Is Wholesome and Nourishing Food

This valuable fruit should never be eaten unless ripe and must be well chewed to be properly digested.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
Former Health Commissioner of New York City
United States Senator From New York

Most people believe the banana is indigestible and an unfit food for children. This is not so. The banana is one of the most important carbohydrate foods we have.

This fruit is a food capable of producing heat and energy. It is a good source of mineral salts and contains vitamins.

The value of bananas depends entirely upon the ripeness of the fruit. It is commonly believed that a banana yellow in color is a ripe one. This is not the case. A ripe banana is one with little brown dots speckling the yellow skin.

The ripe fruit is far easier to digest than the unripe fruit. More than that it is more appealing to the palate. The food elements of the ripe banana are far more abundant than are those of the unripe fruit.

CHEW CAREFULLY

One reason why the banana gained a bad name is the fact that it is rarely carefully chewed. Children are given this without instructions to thoroughly chew the morsels before swallowing. Swallowed pieces of unmasticated banana will often lead to indigestion even in the adult.

Bananas should be kept at room temperature and not placed in the ice chest as is so commonly done. Ice prevents the fruit from proper ripening and from developing the fine natural flavor it possesses.

Recently, attention has been called to the use of this fruit in the treatment of certain disease of infants and children. It is particularly in the treatment of chronic intestinal indigestion in children that the banana diet has been successfully used.

NOURISHING FOOD

This form of intestinal trouble occurs in late infancy and early childhood. When so afflicted the child is not able to digest the carbohydrates and fats commonly contained in a normal diet. In some such cases the ripe banana has proven to be an acceptible and nourishing food. In addition it has appeared to successfully control the disease.

The banana possesses another great virtue. It never becomes contaminated by dirt and bacteria. By a skin covering nature seals the fruit in a most hygienic package.

While not advocating this food as a daily part of our diet, I can readily see the advantages this fruit possesses. Certainly I would prefer to see a child chew a ripe banana slowly and carefully, than to see the youngster stuffing himself with candies. It is a wholesome and nourishing food.

enough potatoes to make a quart. Butter a baking dish, add potatoes that have been mixed with 4 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, add a little onion juice. Then melt 2 tablespoons butter, add it to 3 cups hot milk, add this to the potatoes, cover and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 35 minutes, then uncover and bake until tender and well browned.

* * *

GRAHAM NUT BREAD—Sift 3 cups of graham flour with 1 cup of white flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon soda and ½ teaspoon salt. Mix with 1 cup sugar and then add 2 cups of buttermilk. Mix well. Add either 1 cup of well washed and floured raisins or 1 cup of broken nut meats or ½ cup of each. Pour into a loaf tin and bake for ½ hour in a slow oven. Brush with butter when taken from the oven. Cool before serving.

* * *

SALAD—One-half cup chopped dates, ½ cup drained pineapple, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ cup heavy cream, 3 ounces cream cheese, red fruit coloring, ¼ cup mayonnaise. Whip cream until stiff. Cream the cheese until soft and blend in a few drops of the coloring until the desired red is obtained. Add mayonnaise, mixing well. Stir in the lemon juice. Fold into whipped cream. Add fruit, mixing lightly but thoroughly. Put in a cold refrigerator pan and freeze for 3 hours. Serve on lettuce.

RED CABBAGE—Slice red cabbage and soak in cold water to cover. Put 1 quart in a stewpan with 2 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon finely minced onion, a few gratings of nutmeg and a few grains of cayenne; cover and cook until the cabbage is tender. Add 2 tablespoons vinegar and ½ tablespoon sugar and cook 5 minutes.

LUNCHEON EGGS—Grease the inside of individual ramekins and sprinkle with fine bread crumbs. Put a tablespoon of tomato soup in the bottom of each. Break fresh eggs and drop one into each ramekin, sprinkle with salt and pepper and cover with fine buttered crumbs. Place ramekins in shallow pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until yolk is firm.

FRUIT AND NUT GELATIN SALAD—Soak 1 tablespoon gelatin in ¼ cup cold water for 5 minutes. Heat 1 cup pineapple juice and dissolve the gelatin in it. Add ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup orange juice and ¼ cup vinegar and stir thoroughly. Allow mixture to cool and when starting to congeal fold 1 cup orange sections cut in small pieces, 1 cup pineapple, cut in small pieces, and ¾ cup walnut meats, chopped. Pour into individual molds and chill. When firm and cold, unmold on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise.

CREAMED CHIPPED BEEF—Shred ½ pound chipped beef. Cover with boiling water and let stand 5 minutes. Drain. Melt 4 tablespoons butter. Add ½ pound mushrooms which have been washed, skinned and sliced. Simmer in the butter for five minutes. Then add the chipped beef. When heated thoroughly, sprinkle with 4 tablespoons of flour. Mix and add 3 cups milk. Heat well, simmering about 10 minutes. Add a little pepper, and 2 tablespoons of kitchen bouquet. Serve as you would serve shortcake over hot cheese biscuits, or on toast. This amount will serve 6 generously.

HAM A LA KING—3 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups rich milk, 1 cup chopped mushrooms, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups cold ham, cubed; 1 egg, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

Beware of Girls Who Are 'Stuck' on Themselves

She's stuck on herself, she yells at her mother, she grabs all she can get and gives nothing—and her motto is Me First and Then Yo.

But still Orville hangs around.

What for? Well, he loves her! And evidently he believes in Santa Claus. Because he's looking for that love to perform a miracle and make the lady over.

Silly? Of course, but he's not alone in his silliness. Scores of other gents and ladies are busy putting their heads into nooses because they believe in miracles like that. Are you one of 'em?

Then stop, look and listen while Orville goes a-dirge and pick me a few choice and tender tomatoes.

"Dear Miss Martin:

"I have read your column in the paper for several months and, considering that you have helped so many other people with their tangled problems, I am bringing you mine in the hopes that you can offer a solution to it.

Seems Self-Centered

"I am 24. About ten months ago I met a girl of 19 who impressed me as being my ideal. She works near my office and our friendship developed rapidly. In about five months we were keeping steady company. Needless to say, I fell deeply in love with her before I had any idea that I was nearing such a point.

"She has emphasized the fact that she cared more for me than for any of her other friends, and we were soon talking about matrimony, and all the things that young people discuss when they plan their homes.

"But there are some things about this girl that worry me in spite of my deep affection for her. She is very affectionate toward me, and very sweet to me, but she seems to have a belief in 'me first and then you,' and that doesn't exactly harmonize with my constitution. In all the eight months that I have gone with her, I was only invited to her home for dinner once, and I have a feeling that that invitation was more in the way of showing reciprocity for my taking her out than from a desire to be hospitable. And I have noticed, too, that she would go to her friends' homes for meals and stay all night. About ten times for every once that she has them at her home. Once we visited some friends of hers out of town, and were received very cordially, and had lunch there, but when they came to her house she didn't so much as offer them a glass of water.

Doubtful About Her

"Several times, too, I have been present when she would shout at her mother in a way that embarrassed me terribly. I have mentioned these things to her, but she insists that my point of view is old-fashioned, and that I should stay myself as a relation by not speaking to her as it such things.

"These things got my goat a while back, and we separated, but still I felt drawn to her so we started going together again. But not steady as she insisted on going with others. It all has me puzzled. I have always shown her every respect and affection, and her friends like me, and I can't understand how, if she loves me as ardently as she says, she can find so much enjoyment going out with a lot of other fellows. Such a love doesn't seem genuine to me. So I broke with her.

"But she just won't forget me. She calls me on the phone and writes, asking to see me, and finally, I guess, I'm tender hearted—I agreed to see her. And when I did, I couldn't help feeling some of the old affection. But she doesn't seem to have changed. She still thinks she should come first in everything, in spite of the fact that she has pleaded for a chance with me, and I feel that I have failed with her. Now tell me—please.

"Do I expect too much? Am I asking her to be something that no average girl is? Do you think I will be happy if I marry her? I feel doubtful now, yet I do care for her. 'ORVILLE.'

Doubtful are you, son? Well, I should think you would be! Because if I ever heard of a young woman who sounded like a dose of hives, this one is it!

Not Suitable for Wife

You wouldn't dream, would you, of going into a garage business, or buying a chicken ranch, with a partner . . . a man partner . . . as self-centered and mean and grabby and stuck on himself as this girl is? Sure you wouldn't! You'd smell danger a mile away, and you couldn't run fast enough! Because she's a girl that has Eyes, or Ankles, or a Line that fits into some shadowy "Idealistic" picture you've built up in your own mind, you're only vaguely troubled and getting ready to blame yourself for even noticing her faults.

Well, if you don't want to two-time your whole career, you'd better pick yourself up and get going while the going's good. Because if you let her inveigle you into marriage, as she is trying to do, you're going to be a mighty sorry young man, and I don't mean maybe.

"But she loves you!" Don't let her kid you. What she . . . is her ability to wrap you around her figer. She's kicking up her present fuss because she feels that her control is slipping. Being a gal who just can't bear to not have her own way, she isn't going to give up without a riot. Don't let yourself be flattered into taking her seriously, Son. She isn't fit to be a wife to any man—now. She may be someday, when she's grown up and had a few bumps—and learned to live—but just now she's pure poison.

Forget her, and find a regular girl!

Dress Styles Flattering, Becoming Because They Are Plain, Says Fay King

SIMPLE LINES ARE MOST FLATTERING
IT IS NOT THE COST, BUT THE GOOD TASTE THAT COUNTS
CLOTHES ARE THE MODERN MAGIC THAT CHANGES CINDERELLAS INTO PRINCESSES
FAY KING

By FAY KING

One of the best-dressed women is the wife of a famous press agent.

She has had a hand in the gowning of a number of girls who found themselves suddenly famous and the results have been most happy.

She told me once how, long ago, she used to make her own dresses. How she studied fashion magazines and was always careful to choose plain lines and avoid over-trimming. This in the times when dresses were much over-trimmed.

Being well-dressed is called an art, and so it is. And art at its best is always simple-of line.

Recent styles have been flattering and becoming because they have been plain. Elaborate lines and top-heavy hats should remain taboo.

Madge Angered by Slurs Against Mary in Veritzen's Letter

I gazed at Noel curiously as he asked me what possible reason he could have had for keeping the threatening letter, with its shameful slur against Mary, which his father had written to him.

"Yes, you're real, Noel," I said at last. "I did not suppose there was such naivet left in the world. But tell me first, for it is vital, did you reply to your father's letter?"

"No, he gave me no address."

"Good! Now think! Does anyone know that you have destroyed it?"

"You know the answer to that better than I do," he answered promptly. "Mrs. Bickett, of course, knew that I received a letter that morning and that I must have burned it. She saw the ashes in the bowl. You say that Mary knows I had a letter, and that you know it. I never told anyone about it."

"Then we are safe," I said. "Promise me this now, that if you see your father under no circumstances will you let him know that you destroyed that letter."

"Of course not, if you wish it," he returned. "But—won't you tell me why?"

"Because unless your father has taken complete leave of his senses he must realize by this time what a pit he has prepared for himself. Blackmail and threats like those aren't considered quite clubby in our best social and legal circles. Social ostracism—and possible imprisonment—those are the things we could hold over his head if only you had not destroyed that letter."

"Yes, I know, but oh, what holy blackmail that would be, compared to what he is attempting."

"Then you think," Noel hesitated, "that perhaps his anxiety to see me is due to his wish to get back his letter?"

I repeated an old phrase to myself: "Out of the mouths of babes," for Noel is so singularly unworldly and unsophisticated that I am not prepared for his occasional flashes of rare insight.

"I hadn't thought of it, Noel," I told him truthfully, "but I am thinking now I believe you have hit upon the reason for part of his anxiety, at any rate. I am very sorry to believe it for one reason."

"What why?" Noel stammered, his astonished eyes wide.

"Because such a reason indicates he is saner than his recent actions would indicate, and a disordered mind is the only excuse one can have for him. Otherwise he is a monster—forgive me, Noel, I had forgotten for the instant that he is your father."

"Never a father of mine again," the boy said sternly, "unless, if sane he asks Mary's forgiveness with his face in the dust before her."

"I'd love to see you do it," I told him vindictively, then struck a lighter note.

"But before you do any face grinding you have a difficult role to play, and I'd like to coach you in it, if you don't mind."

"Mind," he said fervently. "Dear lady, I am in your hands absolutely, you know that. Just tell me what I am to do and I will do it."

"You are to do—nothing," I answered, but you are to look volumes. I told you it was a difficult role. I want you to puzzle your father—and that is not the easiest thing in the world."

"Perhaps my will can accomplish what my wits lack," he said.

"Don't run yourself down that way," I said sharply, for the boy's inferiority complex had troubled me more than once. It had "fed fat" my resentment against his father, who, I was sure, was responsible for the boy's unfitness to face the world. "You can do anything you set out to do, and if I am not afraid to have you pit your wits against your father's in this thing, you ought not to worry about it."

"I'm not worrying any more," he said. "I'm carrying out orders. What's the first one?"

"That when you meet your father at Mary's party tonight or tomorrow night you show no hint of resentment toward him, nor the young man he is bringing with him, no matter what cause for anger you think you have."

He lifted his head as if flicked by a whip.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

A Clear Skin Indicates Health

A great deal has been written concerning the various diseases of the skin, but very little in regard to their prevention. Yet you agree with me, of course, that prevention continues to be far more important than cure.

Dr. Copeland

Skin disorders are commonly regarded as due to some constitutional defect or infection. But, as a matter of fact, they are frequently caused by neglect in hygiene.

The skin serves many purposes. Primarily it is a covering to protect the structures lying beneath it.

Likewise, the skin offers a means of escape for certain waste products. This is accomplished by sweating.

The skin contains many small nerve endings. these are watchful stations ready to send messages to the brain. When pain is experienced, caused by a skin injury, these nerves convey the word and instantly the body reacts in such manner that the suffering skin is removed from the source of irritation.

The skin serves as a sort of mechanism to regulate the temperature of the body. This is an important function of this structure.

Since the skin plays an important role in the elimination of certain waste products, it is important to maintain it in as healthy a condition as possible. These waste materials are contained in the sweat given off by the body. When the sweat dries on the body these waste materials are left there.

In addition we must consider the dust and dirt accumulated on the skin. If the waste and dirt are not removed the pores of the skin become choked. Then the skin can no longer help in protecting the body.

It is imperative that the skin be cleansed every day. Daily warm baths are the most satisfactory of the cleansing processes.

In addition to the usual hygienic measures, the skin should at all times be treated with great respect. If it is burned, adequate care and attention should be given.

Moles or other birthmarks should not be trifled with or bruised. Nor should they be treated without the proper supervision of a physician. Some of these so-called harmless birthmarks, if irritated, may develop into cancer. Never pick at the skin without first cleansing the nails and using suitable antiseptic precautions.

Many of the common ailments of the skin are really forms of inflammation. Every such case is spoken of as a "dermatitis." Most attacks of dermatitis are stubborn in nature and require long and tedious treatment.

It is not uncommon for people to tire of going to a physician because they do not think they are improving. The next thing they do is to try all the patent salves that are advertised. This is a foolish practice and often dangerous. If your physician, who is truly interested in you, is having difficulty finding a cure, surely a sealed jar is unlikely to help.

Many skin diseases, such as "eczema," "pellagra" and "urticaria" are due to diet deficiencies. With proper feeding the skin rapidly returns to normal. Quite frequently we see skin rashes which are due to the eating of certain foods or medicines, or to exposure to certain plants.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Divorcee's Formal Name

Dear Miss Beeckman:

Having been married 25 years, and as so many people know me by the name of Brown, I retained the name of my ex-husband. Being a divorcee, they say I am Miss Brown. Had I taken my maiden name it would have been Miss Smith. Then why should it be Mrs. just because I did not? There are no children. READER.

Unless you made special request of the judge who granted you your divorce, you may take either of the forms usually taken by women who have divorces. The form usually used, and the one which is by far the better, is the use of the last name of the maiden name as the prefix of the last name of the married name. That is, if Mary Brown marries and later divorces, John Smith, she would take as her name Mrs. Brown Smith. Or if she wishes, she may take the form, Mrs. Mary Smith, or Mrs. Mary Brown Smith. These forms are not as dignified as the first form that I outlined.

The Miss is rarely resumed in the name after a divorce—this usually indicates an annulment, although sometimes, too, the maiden name is resumed if the woman wishes it, and if she receives permission from the judge.

The gist of the whole matter is that the name by which you wish to be known is for you to decide, not for your friends to assign to you. They have nothing to do with it, and should not even make a suggestion unless you ask for it.

A Beautiful Friendship

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

About three months ago the young man I was going with, and whom I intended to marry, sometime, was suddenly killed in an automobile accident. I was away at the time and was unable to be here for the funeral. A month or more after his death, when I returned, I called on his mother and she returned to me some letters that I had written to him. Was I right in doing this?

His mother was lovely to me, and invited me to visit her as as often as I wished. I love her dearly, and would like very, very much to do this, but I hesitate as I had only met her once before his death. Would it be correct for me to visit her?

H. A.

Of course, visit the mother. You two should be very dear and precious to each other, for you both loved and understood this son of hers that was so sadly taken away. The fact that you knew her so little makes no difference . . . she would not have asked you so cordially to come to see her, if she had not wanted to have you. And you could be, and will be I am sure, an enormous comfort to each other.

The Beauty Box

BY HELEN FOLLETT

Every housewife should get out of doors every day. The daily routine within doors results in debiliated vitality and depressed spirits. Every housewife should have a holiday, away from the family, now and then. Every worker is entitled to two weeks of idleness each year.

To make a henna pack, to bring glints to copper colored hair mix three tablespoonfuls of genuine Egyptian henna with enough boiling water to form a smooth paste, adding one teaspoonful of peroxide of hydrogen. Apply when the hair is dry. Let the mixture remain on from 7 to 10 minutes. Rinse away with warm water and follow along with a thorough shampoo with melted soap and all the water in the water works.

Once again we sound the warning: don't wear snug-fitting felt hats except when out of doors. They keep the scalp too warm, produce too free a flow of lubricant from the sebaceous glands, weaken the vitality of the hair. Hair is benefited by ventilation.

The humble tomato is a beauty food. It is largely composed of water, yet contains protein, carbohydrates, mineral salts, calcium—which is good for the growth of hair and fingernails—phosporus and iron. The tummy welcomes a refreshing glass of tomato juice first thing in the morning. On alternate mornings take the juice of two oranges. Tummy likes that, too. When digestive organs are in order the complexion is clear, colorful and happy.

Household Hints

Coffee stains can be removed by applying pure glycerin before the linen is washed.

Wash the egg beater quickly and dry it immediately so you do not soak the oil from its gears.

Fasten the snaps together before putting the garment through the wringer and they will not be smashed flat and ruined for further use.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, January 10

Conflicting conditions are to be expected from the chain of "mixed influences" noted among the planetary configurations. Matters will be lively enough, calling for a great degree of energy and application, especially in the launching of new projects. But there are hints of sudden and disorganizing changes with rearranged plans, postponements and opposition. Speculation is hazardous. It may be difficult to attain the ends, but personal relations will prove compensatory.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a difficult year, in which much depends on their own enterprise and indomitable resistance to many kinds of opposition and hazard. There may be sudden changes or travel, upset plans and difficulty in launching new projects. Speculation would be unprofitable and dealings with strangers perilous. Sign papers cautiously. Personal affiliations may be pleasant and interesting.

A child born on this day should be brilliant, versatile and energetic, with capabilities making for success in many channels, but it may be radical, visionary in its ideals and disposed to change and adventure.

PLAYING 'EXTRA' IN RADIO DRAMA HAS THRILLS

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—In their gradual exhaustion of all of peace time's spectacular activities the radio magnificoes may soon have to start a war as a means of maintaining public interest in broadcasting.

The broadcasters are ready now for the call of battle or we are talking more than usual through our grey derby. At a moment's notice they can, if necessary, unleash their slickest agents-provocateurs with orders and a blank check to stop at nothing to get the boys into the trenches.

Moreover, without definitely planning for such a contingency as a radio account of war, they have managed to enlist in their ranks most of the newspaper men who have smelled the smoke of battle in the far corners of the globe. They merely have to set them loose to give the car-cuisers of America the greatest excitement yet possible to them.

A shell-by-shell description of a real battle would be an overwhelming climax to all broadcasting. And it is coming one of these days as sure as there's an Aylesworth.

Obviously it would have to be a first-class war. No mere guerilla fighting in obscure outposts of civilization would do. It would have to be a war that captures at least three columns daily on the front page, that utilizes all the latest contraptions of the generalissimos, that depends for much of its glamor on the airplane. Otherwise the lonely listeners of the cross-roads are apt to write angry letters to the broadcasters.

* * *

Were a good war to break out tomorrow, microphone men, we have a notion, would dispatch quicker than you can say, "Ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience," Gibbons and Thomas and Wile and Hard and Palmer and Gable and Broun and Kaltenborn, and, of course, McNamee, Husing, Munday and Ernie Smith to the fighting front. Rickenbacker, because he can fly a plane as well as talk with vigor, would also be probably pressed into service.

How to End Painful Piles Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of Pile sufferers have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves or cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation and strengthen the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 966 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist with a rigid money-back guarantee.

Dr Leonhardt's prescription has a wonderful record of success right in this city and May's & Liggett's invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID and guarantee to refund the purchase price if it does not end all Pile misery.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

We were on the air last night. Of course, we doubt if you recognized us as our part wasn't a very prominent one. All we did was help wreck the airplane in KQV's mystery thriller. Playing the part of an "extra" we came in near the end tugging a washboiler loaded with pliers, hammers, nuts, bolts or what have you. We dropped it to the studio floor with a thud when "Bud" Cooper blew a toy whistle to indicate that something was going to happen. It did. A hammer bounced out of the boiler and landed on Bud's toe, almost spoiling the continuity. Those shots that sounded like real Chicago stuff were created by smashing inflated paper bags the whizz of bullets by whipping a golf stick in front of a "mike" placed on the floor—and machine gun fire with strips of leather rotating rapidly against a tom-tom.

Late yesterday we met Paul Miller in the big store buying 10-cent dinner plates. Tonight he'll smash them with a hammer to give a backroom restaurant effect. Part of the "Skippy and Ray" sketch on KQV at 7:30.

The boys have lots of fun doping out these sound effects. One day we surprised Miller taking the dimensions of an elevator to see if it was big enough to convey a "baby auto" to the studio for realistic motor noises.

QUESTION A DAY:

Who is the Songbird on WCAE?
Gertrude H.

Answer—Betsy Ayres, soprano. It was a secret until now.

Getting back to "extras" we forgot to inform you that they are a regular part of many network programs. The compensation is $3 a head.

"Here's the correct dope, Darrell, on that Amos 'n' Andy episode the other night.

"Three days before Christmas I sprained my back and have had much trouble with it since. The night I was late I was discussing business with Miss Waller, vice president of WMAQ, on the twenty-fifth floor when my secretary put her head in the room and told me it was time for me to be on the air.

"I took those 26 steps to the twenty-sixth floor in seven jumps and suffered excruciating pain.

"This was the first time in seven years' broadcasting that I have been late for a program. Regards."

Are PRUNES Really Fruit?

FRUIT? It may come to you almost as a surprise. Especially if you have never seen prunes hanging plump and purple on the trees.

They're one of the most delicious of fruits, too. Wonderfully good . . . and good for you. Full of fine flavor, full of nutriment, full of good health.

But remember this: there is as much difference in prunes as in any fruit you buy. It's hard for you, however, to tell the difference just by looking at them. So we growers select the cream of our crop each season, pack the fruit in our own plant, label it with our own SUNSWEET Label, and offer it to you with our grower-guarantee of top quality.

By JAMES J. LONG

First Test of Harvey. Mason Aids Levinsky.
Shanks Signs Quickly. Booth's Role Changed.
Coast Votes on Draft. Girl Champion's Shift.

BRITON GETS CHANCE DENIED DARCY

TONIGHT BRINGS THE first American test of the most promising middleweight fighter to come here from any other country since the late Les Darcy made his tragic trip from Australia in 1917. Darcy, looking like a sure-enough champion, was denied a chance in this land of the free by hostile governors and boxing boards. With Gov. Whitman, of New York, setting the lead, he was hounded from state to state until finally, on May 24, 1917, he died in Memphis of a broken heart.

Len Harvey

Len Harvey, bringing with him the 160-pound championship of Great Britain, gets a better break. He is given an immediate chance to show his wares, making his bow in New York tonight in a 12-round bout with Vince Dundee, who recently defeated Buck McTiernan at Motor Square Garden. He may go far, perhaps even to the world title. Or he may, like the great majority of the other fighters England has sent over in recent years, prove a disappointment.

WHAT THE ANSWER will be nobody knows. Tonight's developments, though not conclusive, should at least furnish a line on what may be expected of Harvey later. He doesn't have to be a world beater to defeat Dundee, but at any rate the latter is good enough to give Harvey a test that may demonstrate whether the latest flistic importation is a real championship prospect or just another Englishman.

The newcomer appears likely to prove an exception to the long run of British failures. For one thing he holds a decision over the classy Dave Shade, and though there was considerable question as to the justice of that verdict he could hardly have held Shade even close unless he possessed more than average ability.

BY REASON OF that and other performances on the opposite side of the Atlantic, together with the good impression he has made by his physical make-up and his showing in training-camp workouts since his arrival here, the chances seem to favor a successful start for the Briton in the United States.

A knockout is hardly in the cards, though Harvey has 200 of them to his credit, but it will not be surprising if he wins the decision and goes on to bigger tests.

AN UNUSUAL FIGHTER is Harvey. In 10 years (he started professionally at the age of 13) he has come through 350 fights without a scar. He has had a black eye only twice. He has two perfect hands with knuckles in a straight line, such as only a few glovemen, notably Stanley Ketchel and Luis Firpo, have boasted. He not only scorns to use a mouthpiece while in the ring, but does not wear a headgear in his workouts. He says he wants to avoid becoming accustomed to a headgear; that there is always a temptation to take punches which would better be blocked or slipped. He might forget and take them in the ring.

NOT ONLY WAS your old friend, Howard Shanks, Cleveland coach, the first man to sign an Indian contract for 1931, but he set a new record for speedy penmanship in doing so. The Cleveland club mailed the contract last Saturday and got it back, signed, on Tuesday.

Howard Shanks

The Monaca veteran will be 41 in July, but, even though his playing days are long since over he is still rated one of the most valuable men in the majors. Shanks has been in professional baseball since 1909, when he started as an outfielder for East Liverpool, O., in the old O. & P. League.

ANOTHER MINOR BASEBALL league is expected to accept the universal draft today. The Pacific Coast League is expected to accept the universal draft today. The Pacific Coast League meets to vote on the question, and advance reports indicate it will yield.

A second attempt to elect a league president is likely to fail, like the first, as Harry A. Williams, incumbent, still has four votes, or enough to block the opposition's plan to elect somebody else. Until his opponents can muster five votes, Williams stays on the job.

IF YOU HAPPEN to be at the ringside in the Chicago Stadium when King Levinsky meets Jimmy Slattery in a return bout next Wednesday night you may easily imagine that you are back in Pittsburgh, for there, in Levinsky's corner, will be the familiar figure of James Michael Mason. Red has been instructing Levinsky for Ray Alvis, the fighter's new manager, and will be one of the Kingfish's advisers and handlers in next week's battle, along with Alvis and Trainer Barney Furey. Alvis considers Mason a great help to his fighters, an opinion borne out by results.

THE VETERAN PITTSBURGH boxing skipper has yet to handle a loser for the stable owned by Alvis and Jack Kearns. He seconded Jackie Field to a decision and a kayo over Paul Pirrone and Bucky Lawless, Tony Shea to a knockout over Kid Campbell, and Tony Herrera to a pair of wins here over Anderson and Glick.

Mason writes from Chicago that Levinsky is the best drawing card that city ever had in the fight game, and predicts that Alvis will make more money with him than any other fighter in 1931. The Pittsburgher also tips Chicago to be the scene of some big fistic doings during the next few years, particularly during the World Fair.

EASTERN OBSERVERS SEE in Yale's basketball games a marked change in roles for Albie Booth. Whereas in football Booth is pretty much the whole thing on the offense and is nearly always an individual standout, in basketball he is just a member of the star shooter's supporting company, just a floor worker and a feeder whose duty it is to slip the ball to a mate more skilled in scoring baskets.

But at that, Booth is a valuable man to Yale on the floor. He passes well, guards his man successfully, shows court sense and possesses inspirational qualities that keep his teammates going at top speed.

Sonja Heine

NATHANIEL W. NILES, once a top-liner in tennis, went in for figure skating later with such success that he became champion of the United States. Miss Sonja Heine, 18-year-old Norwegian girl and world champion in women's figure skating, thinks it's a poor rule that won't work both ways, so she has retired from the ice to take up tennis. Even if she doesn't succeed at the nets she will continue to hold a place among the most prominent sport figures of all time by reason of a figure-skating record never paralleled in any branch of competition by a girl of her years. She won the world championship four straight years—in 1927 at Oslo, in 1928 at London, in 1929 at Budapest, and in 1930 at New York. That won't be equaled in a hurry by any young or old skater.

ALLEY OWNERS JOIN RADIO HOOKUP

Plans were laid for a mammoth Greater Pittsburgh duckpin bowling tournament, to be held some time in April at a meeting of the Greater Pittsburgh Bowling Alley Owners' Association, held in the Fort Pitt Hotel yesterday.

Bob Haus

A committee was named to arrange the details of the tournament, which virtually means the passing of all other fixtures of the sort in the district, and it will meet again next Thursday at the Penn Alleys, 810 Penn avenue, to select the alleys on which the event will be rolled.

Bob Haus was named chairman of the tournament committee. Other members are Eddie Edwards, Earl Nuss, Bill Adolphson, Walter Dubski and L. L. Williams.

The association consists of 52 members and each has guaranteed to enter at least two five-men teams in the tournament.

BOWLING ON THE AIR

The association also entered into a contract whereby it will help to sponsor a weekly radio program over the National Broadcasting Company hookup from New York to the Rocky Mountains. Prominent bowling stars, physicians and others will tell of the benefits of the sport and music and other entertainment will make up the half-hour period, which gets under way next Thursday night and continues for four months.

C. A. West is president of the association, Frank Borland vice president and S. H. Patterson secretary and treasurer. Yesterday's meeting was attended by the Messrs. Nuss, Booker, Haus, Stadtler, Williams, Pamropolis, Himes, Rapchick, Brown, Patterson, Steeb, Garber, Crookston, Bair, Giles, Adolphson, Edwards, Fotinas, Dubski and Vuganovic, together with representatives of the KDKA broadcasting station.

GIRLS' TEAMS CLASH

The girls' bowling teams of Ambridge and the Haus Recreation Alleys, of the North Side, will meet in a match game for the fourth time on the Haus Alleys, Federal street, tomorrow night. Ambridge, champion of the Beaver Valley, has taken all three matches staged so far, two of them at home, and the Haus team has been revamped for this occasion. The contest will get under way at 8 o'clock.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: TO TAKE FRENCH LEAVE—To "take French leave" is to leave without saying goodby. The French express the same idea by "filer a l'anglaise," meaning to "take English leave." OSCAR ABERNETHY MADE A 335-YARD HOLE-IN-ONE—Mr. Abernethy, of 2024 Bay street, Charlotte, N. C., started to play golf in 1925. On June 29, 1925, he made a 335-yard hole-in-one. On July 15, 1926, he made a 168-yard hole-in-one, and, in August, 1927, he holed out in one shot on a 315-yard hole. All these shots were made on the Blowing Rock golf course.

By CARL W. SHATTO.

The Yellow Jacket puckmen are not at all adverse to kicking foemen who are down.

Last night the local skaters returned from London, where on Wednesday they downed the Tecumsehs, 2-0, and shoved them down a notch in the league standings. The Londoners are down, but not out, for they are only one-half game beneath the Jackets, and the Schooley skaters aim to keep 'em there by giving their fallen adversaries another thumping when they come here tomorrow night.

London downed Pittsburgh in their first two clashes, but the Tecumsehs do not figure to stop the present Jacket squad, and the season series probably will be evened within a few hours.

McGUIRE ON MEND

Mickey McGuire, whose attack of flu got the better of him in Windsor, returned with his mates yesterday and placed himself under the care of the club physician. Mickey is staging a rapid recovery, according to President-Manager Roy D. Schooley, but it is not likely that he will appear in the lineup until Cleveland comes here next week.

Goalie Cox's broken hand has not yet mended, but Bud Fisher has been giving faultless performances in the Pittsburgh nets, and the local chiefs are not at all worried about the goal guarding. Art Berlett, who was weakened by an attack of flu last week, has regained his strength, according to Coach Charles Reid, and will be able to stay on the ice for longer periods than he has in recent jousts. Art joined Whitey Fields and Eddie Ouellette on the cut mouth squad in London, but their injuries are not serious enough to handicap their play.

RODDEN IN DEBUT

Eddie Rodden, center ice star obtained from the New York Rangers exactly a week ago, will skate in McGuire's position in making his local debut tomorrow. Rodden teamed with Halliday and McIntyre in London, and this line produced both Pittsburgh goals. London news stories credited Rodden with being one of the outstanding stars of the joust.

A victory tomorrow may advance the locals to within a half game of third place—the last playoff berth. London is certain to run into rough going, for Cleveland and Detroit at present share the third notch, and the Jackets want to be in a position to pass 'em when they meet both clubs next week.

STRIB-SHARKEY GO LIKELY

BOSTON, Jan. 9.—(AP.)—A New York bout between Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, and Young Stribling, Southern contender for the heavyweight championship, appeared to be in the making today for late next month at Miami, Fla., or New York.

A conference between Johnny Buckley, Sharkey's manager, and William F. Carey, president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, terminated early today with both in practical agreement on the match. No articles were signed, but Buckley and Carey will discuss the fight further in New York today or tomorrow, when they expect to have Pa Stribling, Young Stribling's manager, in a conference with them.

PURDUE SIGNS CARIDEO

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 9.—(INS.)—Frank Carideo, all-America quarterback of the Notre Dame University football team for the last two years, has signed a contract as assistant football coach on an all-year basis at Purdue University, and will report for duties next fall, it was announced here today by Director of Athletics N. A. Kellogg.

Howley, Reds' Pilot, Rescues Girl in Surf

PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 9.—(AP.)—Dan Howley, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, assumed the role of life guard here yesterday and rescued a girl from the surf.

The girl fainted in the water and Howley went out to her. As he was bringing her to shore, he was met by Heinie Manush, Washington outfielder; Clyde Engels, baseball scout; Gene Wermuth, of Boston, and J. Mauser, retired captain of the New York Fire Department, who helped the Cincinnati pilot bring the girl up on the beach.

The girl revived after a short time, but declined to give her name, disappearing among other bathers on the beach.

DUKES TOPPLE THIEL, 35-31

GREENVILLE, Jan. 9.—Duquesne University upset Thiel College, 35-31, in a spectacularly interesting game here last night.

After the first Thiel point the Dukes led all the way, although Thiel was right on their heels, deadlocking the game three times at 5, 10 and 24.

The Dukes led at the half, 14-10, after a spurt just as the period ended. The gap narrowed to one and two points until at 24 Thiel tied again. Another Duke spurt was caught short in the last three minutes and with a minute to go the Duquesne margin of safety was reduced to two points. A goal by Stephens put the game on ice. But the last two minutes were productive of the most torrid basketball on the Thiel floor in a couple of seasons.

Brud Stephens with six field goals and two fouls out of two attempts carried off the scoring honors, while McCoy's five baskets and two fouls did much to keep Thiel in the running. The lineup:

Duquesne 35.		Thiel—21.
Rebert	F	Harter
Abele	F	Clarke
McGeever	C	Frampton
Stephens	G	Bell
Parry	G	McCoy

Field goals—Duquesne, Stephens 6, Benedict, McGeever, Paulino 2, Abele, Thiel, McCoy 5, Clarke, Harter 2, Frampton, Bell, Rouse, Duquesne, 9 out of 12; Thiel, 9 out of 12. Substitutions—Duquesne, Paulino for McGeever, Irwin for Parry, Thiel, Wardle for Clarke, Clarke for Wardle, Wardle for Bell, Bell for Wardle, Petrini for McCoy, McCoy for Petrini. Referee—Daugherty.

HARVEY 2-1 FAVORITE

Middleweight champion of his native land and with a string of some 350 victories, Harvey ruled a 2-to-1 favorite over Dundee.

An intimate serial by the late Tex Rickard's "Man Friday," beginning in Monday's Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, entitled "Building Up Big Fights," takes you from John L. Sullivan to Max Schmeling and tells you how the million-dollar gates of Fistiana were made possible.

Dorgan, brother of Tad, the famous sports cartoonist, has done a fine job in this story, which will run through 48 generous instalments and let you in on the secrets of the art of ballyhoo.

Remember the Connie Mack Life Story that ran serially in these pages a few months ago? Well, here is something for the boxing fan along similar lines. You'll like it and will want to read every absorbing chapter after you get started on the first one.

Just another treat for the readers of Pittsburgh's favorite sports pages.

PIRATES SIGN ROOKIE HURLER

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Lee Johnson, a 22-year-old righthander, six feet two inches tall, weighing 170 pounds, has raised the Pittsburgh Pirates' reserve pitchers' list to 13. Vice President Sam Dreyfuss last night announced that the Western sandlot hurler had been placed on the Buc roster.

The rookie hurled for an independent club at Price, Utah, last season, although he was given a tryout by Hollywood, of the Pacific Coast League, in the spring. He had a splendid record in the sandlots.

Johnson bats right handed, was born February 26, and his native heath is Salt Lake City. He will accompany the Pirates on their spring trip to Paso Robles. It is reported Johnson came to the Bucs highly recommended by a thoroughly competent friend of local officials.

Tilden, Kozeluh Challenged by Vin Richards

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—(AP.)—Vincent Richards, national professional tennis champion, who was one of Bill Tilden's leading rivals before he turned pro, wants to meet Big Bill on the courts again.

Richards yesterday issued an informal challenge to the winner of the match between Tilden and Karel Kozeluh, Czecho-Slovakian professional, which is to take place in Madison Square Garden, February 8.

Griffiths, Grid Coach At Dickinson, Quits

CARLISLE, Pa., Jan. 9.—(INS.)—P. W. (Red) Griffiths has presented his resignation as football coach of Dickinson College to Dr. M. G. Filler, president of the institution. He was an understudy to Hugo Bezdek at Penn State in 1921.

OSWALD MEETS GREENLEAF

Harry Oswald, generally regarded as the best pocket billiardist in the Pittsburgh district, and Ralph Greenleaf, who was runner-up to Erwin Rudolph for the national title, in the annual tournament recently concluded, opened a series of four matches at the Ellis Parlors, Diamond street, this afternoon.

Oswald finished second to Andrew Ponzi, of Philadelphia, in the sectional qualifying test. Greenleaf has won the national pocket billiards crown many times. He has not appeared here in the last six years.

The four matches, which will be played at 3 o'clock and 8 o'clock today and tomorrow, will be of 100 points each.

MUNN SURPRISE MAT CHAMP

CHICAGO, Jan. 9. — (AP.) — Wayne (Big) Munn, who died in a Texas hospital today, produced one of the greatest surprises in professional wrestling by tossing the heavyweight champion, Ed (Strangler) Lewis, out of a Kansas City ring in 1925 to claim the title.

He had been a star football player at the University of Nebraska, taking up professional boxing upon graduation. He won a few bouts, then game it up for wrestling. He had been at it only a few months before meeting Lewis. The Strangler won back his much disputed title in the early summer of 1925 by defeating Munn in a Michigan City (Ind.) ring.

Munn continued to wrestle, but never again was recognized as the titleholder.

Wayne was the first of four brothers to distinguish himself on the University of Nebraska gridiron. He marticulated in 1916, and early in 1918 left the university to enter the Army.

Munn's three brothers are Wade, of Lincoln; Monte, of Chicago, and Glenn, of Akron, O. His body will be brought to Fairbury, Neb., for burial.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 9.—(AP.)—The departure of Ban Johnson, former president of the American League, from St. Luke's Hospital here, where he has been for several months suffering from diabetes, has been delayed by an operation. He went through the operation performed early this week, without the aid of anesthetics. A bone was removed from his foot.

Johnson will remain at the hospital until he is able to bear his weight on the foot, after which he will head for Florida.

The race for titular basketball honors in the City League, Section 1, in particular, was on more of an even keel this morning, following yesterday's victory for the defending champions, Fifth Avenue High, and the defeat of a promising contender, Schenley. Schenley upset the dope by trimming Fifth Avenue in the league inaugural the other day.

The close 29-28 decision Coach John Irwin's Allderdice passers gained over the Bellefielders yesterday, puts the Squirrel Hillers very much in the running this year.

Fifth Avenue battled down Connelley Trade School, 31 to 23, and South High whipped Peabody, 33 to 23, in the other embroglios.

Section 2 tilting found favorites grabbing the day's honors, South Hills High, defending titlist, easily set down Langley, 38-18; Carrick beat Perry, 18-11, and Allegheny bumped Allegheny Vocational, 28-24.

Schenley, in Section 1; Herron Hill, South, and Somers, in Section 2, and Latimer, in Section 3, copped City Junior League contests.

One W. P. I. A. L. battle was run off the boards yesterday, Tarentum High taking a 32-24 victory from Arnold, in Section 1.

Duquesne University Prep will travel to the Aspinwall school to play Shady Side Academy in basketball this afternoon. A fast game is anticipated.

W. P. I. A. L. CARD FULL

Another full program of contests confronts W. P. I. A. L. quintets for today. At least three games are booked for each of the 16 sections, with five divisions featuring four tussles.

A number of early season favorites, including Scott High, of North Braddock; Homestead, of Section VII; Ambridge, in Division II; Monessen, in Section VII; Greensburg, in Section X and Waynesburg, in Section XV, which won their opening games on Tuesday, face further tests tonight.

Scott, an 88-to-8 victor over Pitcairn, meets a formidable opponent in Jock Rosenberg's Rankin quintet at Rankin. Bill Campbell's Homestead team has Munhall to get past and Ambridge, where Moe Rubenstein is turning out championship contenders with amazing consistency, meets Ben Avon at Ben Avon. Monessen has West Newton to play at West Newton and Greensburg must go at top speed to beat Uniontown. Waynesburg faces stiff competition at East Washington.

Gonzales Reported Signed by Cardinals

HAVANA, Jan. 9.—(AP.)—El Mundo says today that Mike Gonzales, veteran Cuban catcher, has accepted terms offered him by Branch Rickey to play with the St. Louis Cardinals this year. Gonzales played for the Minneapolis American Association club last year.

"I was a free agent, and I am glad to accept Mr. Rickey's offer," El Mundo quotes Gonzales as saying. "I'll show them that I still can play real ball."

BRENT AWARDED TECHNICAL KNOCKOUT

Johnny Kerr, tough Scotch fighter from New York, demonstrated quite ably last night at the Palisades, McKeesport, that he could absorb plenty of punishment, and took a neat pasting at the hands of Billy Brent, rugged Hill district Negro slugger, before Referee Red Robinson intervened near the close of the ninth round, and waved Kerr to his corner, giving the fight to Brent on a technical knockout.

Brent led all of the way except for a rally by Kerr in the sixth round, and dropped the latter twice just before the finish, the second time for a count of nine.

NOVAK STOPS JOHNSON

AL MONROE WINS

Giving away height and reach in addition to two and one-half pounds in weight, Al Monroe, little Negro slugger of the Hill, was awarded a technical knockout victory over Ed Litz, of Warren, O., after two minutes and 45 seconds in the third round of the second bout. Litz claimed an injured left thumb prevented him from continuing. In a slugging six-round curtain-raiser, Tony Moreno, Duquesne flyweight, won the judges' decision over Georgie Sotak, of Irwin.

PAIRINGS MADE FOR WEST PENN CUP

By TOM BIRKS.

Pairings were announced today for the playing of the semi-final round in the West Penn cup ties. Clan Douglas has drawn Bridgeville, while Cecil will oppose Dunlevy.

The Clan Douglas-Bridgeville game will be played at the Homewood Playgrounds on Saturday, January 24, while Cecil and Dunlevy will stage their duel on February 1. No site has been chosen for the game.

The Keystone League held its monthly meeting last evening in President Hillen's office at Heidelberg. Dunlevy was not represented, but was allowed to postpone its game with Morgan, scheduled Sunday, owing to a crippled roster. Unless a cup tie is scheduled, Dunlevy will appear at Morgan February 1.

The Shannon Fintex-Curry affair, called by Referee Lumsden with six minutes to go, was awarded to Shannon. Goalkeeper Pheiffer, who was suspended for a month, has been reinstated.

A warning was issued to players Preaux and Godfrey of Cecil and Bridgeville, who were put out last Sunday.

Zupansic, of Curry, was reinstated. The league ordered forfeits posted by the Polish American Club and Heidelberg returned.

Sport Vignettes

One of the most humorous typographical errors in many days appeared in a New York newspaper announcing the election of former Gov. John K. Tener to the directorate of the Phillies. . . "Ex-Gob Tener on Phils' Directorate," read the headline. . . Promoter Jim McGirr, of McKeesport, supplies cuspidors at the ringside for tobacco-chewing members of the working press. . . Two of them use them. . . Do you think Joe Dundee, former welterweight champion, could have beaten Primo Carnera, the biggest of the heavyweights? . . . Well, it's not as ridiculous as it might seem. . . Dundee knocked out Mickey Walker when the latter was welterweight champion. . . And Walker knocked out Armand Emanuel, who whipped Jim Maloney, who defeated Carnera in the latter's last bout in this country.

Football captains had better beware next fall. . . If they protest any of Common Pleas Judge John P. Egan's decisions they may find themselves in contempt of court. . . . And think of the possibilities with Judge Walter P. Steffen, Carnegie Tech coach, sitting on the bench and Judge Egan running the game. . . . Bill Corum kicks in with the one about his know-it-all friend who even knows the Unknown Soldier. . . . And also the one about all of the tin-horn sports who celebrate New Year's Eve in the night clubs. . . . Trouble with the Tournament of Roses game is that there are thorns among the roses for the losers, and it's a long ride back home. . . . Speaking of the Tournament of Roses feature, a California scribe picks the following all-time classic team dating back to 1915, when the modern series was inaugurated: . . . Ends, Muller, California (1921-22), and Tappaan, Southern California (1930) . . . Tackles, Russ Stein, W. & J. (1922), and Beckett, Oregon (1916-17-18) . . . Guards, Post, Stanford (1927), and Ray Montgomery, Pitt (1929) . . . Center, Walsh, Notre Dame (1925) . . . Quarterback, Saunders, Southern California (1930) . . . Halfbacks, Pollard, Brown (1916), and Wilson, Washington (1926) . . . Fullback, Nevers, Stanford (1925).

Dick Hanley, now the coach at Northwestern University, which gave Notre Dame that tough battle last season, was the hero of the 1915 Tournament of Roses game. . . . Playing quarterback for Washington State (which, incidentally, was Alabama's victim in this year's game), his generalship and driving runs routed Brown, led by Fritz Pollard, the great Negro star, 14-0. . . . So far, the kid 1931 still is a rank novice in worldly affairs, but give him time; he'll know plenty before he does a fadeout. . . . Where do they get all of those pins they put in the shirts a guy's wife buys him for Christmas?

Remember the murderous fight staged by Marcus Noll and Jack Tracey, local Negro middleweights, at Motor Square Garden on New Year's night, which Noll finally won by a technical knockout after being almost stopped himself in the first two rounds? . . . Well, the following night they were hobnobbing together at the Moose fights, just a couple of pals. . . . That's the fight game for you. . . . The boys forget their grievances as soon as they climb out of the ring.—HARRY KECK.

GENEVA MEETS ST. THOMAS AT SCRANTON

Wash-Jeff vs. Hilltop Y at Hilltop Y. M. C. A.
Geneva vs. St. Thomas at Scranton.
St. Francis vs. Grove City at Grove City.
Bethany vs. Juniata at Huntington, Pa.

By JESS CARVER.

Peter Henry, whose abdominal acreage is rivaled only by that of Clarence (Pat) Spears in all the realm of collegiate coaching, springs on unsuspecting Pittsburgh tonight the combination with which old Wash-Jeff hopes on going places and doing a thing or two with on various and sundry basketball circuits this year. The Presidents play a warm-up game with Hilltop Y. M. C. A. this eventide, beginning at 8 p. m.

After performing here tonight, the Red and Black troupe will move on to Butler for a session there on the morrow with the crack Paulist quintet.

MATERIAL PLENTIFUL

The Prexies are in fine shape in a basketball way this year. Only two men were lost from last year's team, and Coach Henry, himself no slouch of a player during his undergraduate days has a wealth of material from which to build a team. Included among those figured to make extra special bids for varsity jobs are Zagray, Wilson, Joe Hamilton Smith, McNeil Butler, Martin Kaiser, Umberger, Post and Shaffer.

It looks like Coach Pete will start Joe and Glennie Smith at the forwards against Hilltop tonight, with Stewie Wilson, the big football fullbacker, at center and Gerhart Zagray and Shaffer at the guards.

One thing certain as long as Pete remains as coach the Presidents are certain to play before a crowd every time they take the floor.

The Tipoff

Pitt leaves tonight for New York, where N. Y. U. will be played tomorrow. Carnegie's Tartans, after a week of rest, will take on Thiel in the Tartan gym tomorrow evening and in a preliminary game, Coach Ray (Ra Ra) Buckley will unblanket his Plebe team. The Pitt Junior College team, of Johnstown, will furnish the opposition for Mr. Buckley's charges.

Geneva continues its three-game invasion of the East tonight by taking on St. Thomas College at Scranton. The Covenanters rallied nobly after being taken by Thiel Tuesday and played the ball against Gettysburg last night.

Frank Wolf's Yellow Jackets, of Waynesburg, in taking Penn State Wednesday, hinted that they might have been a bit off against the Dukes Monday. They started off the same way against State that they did against the Dukes, but came to life in the second half to pass the Lions.

PREXY GRIDDERS FAIL TO ELECT

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 9.—Washington and Jefferson College varsity gridiron athletes failed to elect a captain last night, the balloting taking place during the annual banquet served the athletes by the alumni of the institution. Several candidates were voted upon.

Coach William E. Amos notified the squad if it did not reach a decision within a month, the athletic council would name the leader for 1931. The athletes failed to elect last year and Walter Levine, of Lock Haven, was named. Under the rules of the school, a three-fourths majority is necessary.

The banquet last night was largely attended, a unique feature being that wives and other feminine relatives of alumni banqueted in another part of the hotel.

PUNCHERS MEET AT MOOSE

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Frankie Chatterton, the blond Cleveland lightweight, who meets Eddie Brannon, Negro, of the Hill, in the main bout at the Moose Temple, downtown, tonight, will be fighting to avenge a defeat by Brannon in an earlier bout, in Ohio. Also to wipe out a defeat by Benny McArthur, of McKeesport in a bout at Franklin, Pa., last month, when he substituted on short notice and Muscle Scholes was out of shape at 145 pounds. This latter battle was so close that the officials split on the decision, one judge voting for Chatterton and the other calling the bout a draw, while the referee voted for McArthur.

Muscle Scholes

Both Chatterton and Brannon are essentially punchers. Chatterton goes by the label of the Lakewood (O.) Larruper, while Brannon's punching proclivities are well known to the local fans. In his most recent start, in the Moose ring, Eddie knocked out Jimmy Kelly, the North Side's popular belter.

REPEAT SEMI-FINAL

A bout that promises a lot of action is the semi-final tonight, the third meeting between Billy (Muscle) Scholes, fighting milkman of the North Side, and U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington. Scholes won each of the other battles, at the Moose and Hickey Park, Millvale, and both were Carpentier lost the first bout on a foul in the fourth round after being almost knocked out in the third.

Between Rounds

Johnny Indrisano, of Boston, and Paul Pirrone, of Cleveland, welterweight stars who meet in the main bout at Motor Square Garden Monday night, both arrive in town Sunday morning and indulge in a light workout there in the afternoon. Larry Madge, of Cleveland, who meets Billy Heitz, of Homestead, in the semi-final, will accompany Pirrone here.

Nick Testo, Troy (N. Y.) welterweight boxes Joe Grubb, of Jamaica, L. I., next Monday night. Eddie Benson meets Salah Zeidan and Hans Mosher takes on Jack Beddara at the Bridgeport (Conn.) Sea Side Arena tonight. Right now Nesheim and Bills Took go to it for eight rounds in Brooklyn Monday.

Billy Bulley has been suspended indefinitely by the boxing commission, which believes he quit to Young Rudy in the second round of their bout at the Moose Temple last Friday night and was not knocked out, as appeared to be the case. He has gone into a lumber camp in Michigan to get in shape to return here and erase the memory of that defeat.

Dave Shade boxes Joe Anderson and Louis (Kid) Kaplan, former featherweight champion meets Jack Portnoy, of Baltimore, in the two 10-round supporting bouts on the Len Harvey-Vince Dundee card in Madison Square Garden, New York, tonight. Lou Halper boxes Joe Spatola and Mickey Mayno tackles Joe Gagnon in four-round preliminaries. Johnny Paymond and Johnny Lenhart meet in a 10-rounder at an armory club in New York.

Pat Haley boxes Jimmy Smith and Harry (Kid) Ross opposes Bob Schilling in Philadelphia tonight. Maxie Strub boxes Bobby Mays, of New Bedford, Mass., at Erie.

Buddy McArthur, of Saginaw, Mich., a light-heavyweight, now is a member of the local Italic colony, having joined his brother, Lenny, under the management of Bernard Kelly, Jr., at McKeesport. Benny is slated to box Johnny Kusic in the next show at Franklin.

Jimmy McGraw, of Wheeling, boxes Buddy Stewart, of Canton, O., in the semi-final to the Willie Davies-Marty Gold bout at Wheeling Monday night. Hans Roberts, of Bridgeport, meets Lou Oger, of Moundsville, W. Va., in the second bout, and Johnny Dernko, of Wierton, and Sammy Madson, of Wheeling, are paired for the four-round opener.

Ted Yanez, of Monaca, boxes Jimmy Moffett, at Alliance, O., next Tuesday night, with Charley Tarzan, of Rochester, Pa., and Tony Rabino, of Glassport, boxes Babe Ruth at Springfield, O., January 20.

Due to the suspension of Gus Brittner, of Charleroi, Young Bordell, of New Kensington, has been substituted as the opponent of Jimmy Reilly, of McKeesport, in the opening bout at Motor Square Garden Monday night.

Ed Fritz, New Castle promoter, has completed the following card for his benefit show for Mayor William Gillespie's relief fund committee one week from next Monday night: Fritz Tobias vs. Willie Davies, 10 rounds; Nick Adams vs. Joe Midway and Lefty Arnold vs. Elmer Badger, six rounds each, and Walter West vs. Johnny Banko and Billy Milo vs. Roy Mintzer, four rounds each. The show will be held in the renovated Castle Bowl, formerly the Jolly Bowl, which has been idle for months.

Santiago Zorilla and Frankie Klick have been matched for a bout at San Francisco, January 16.

Fight Results

At Peoria, Ill.—Meyer (K. O.) Christner knocked out Bud Doran, 7 rounds; Johnny Melton defeated Charley Crocker, 8 rounds.

STOCKS RALLY, RAILS RISE SHARPLY

List Turns After Short Period of Considerable Uncertainty In Early Hours of Trading

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (AP.)—Rails were again used to keep the bull movement in stocks rolling in today's market.

The list showed considerable uncertainty for a time, with liquidation of the chemicals and profit taking in steels threatening to open the list lower. Professional selling in the motors soon stiffened the market, however, and caused a buoyancy to prevail after midday, as the specialties forged ahead, marked up sharply. Rails turned in a market of specialized activity nevertheless.

The market was stimulated by the remarks of Paul Warburg, made in his capacity as chairman of the Manhattan Company, particularly his statement that prices of many stocks have fallen unreasonably low as they were unjustifiable last in 1929.

There was no basis in the day's news for the marking up of rail road shares. In fact, Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania, put a damper on the enthusiasm generated by the eastern consolidation agreement. His said unification could not take effect for four or five years.

The heaviness of Allied Chemical is attributed to the break in soda ash prices, but since Allied through its subsidiary, the Solvay Co., is the largest producer of soda ash in the industry, it is in a dominant position in the market, and one optimistic explanation of the price drop was that Allied may have wished to stimulate consumption and keep its plants busy.

The oil issues were helped by declaration of a 25-cent quarterly dividend by Barnsdall, which had previously paid 50 cents, as complete omission of the payment had been expected in some quarters.

The company also stated that it felt much had been done toward betterment in the industry which would be reflected in future earnings. Copper shares were sluggish in the face of a cut of ¼ of a cent in the metal price by copper exporters.

Credit conditions were stationary, with call loans at 1 per cent in the outside market. The weekly Federal Reserve statement showed that $125,000,000 in reserve credit had been withdrawn with the passing of the year-end demands. San Francisco followed St. Louis and Cleveland in cutting its rediscount rate to 3 per cent.

Northern Pacific Shares On Attractive Basis At Present Time

Analyses on railroad shares [illegible] point out that Northern Pacific [illegible] on attractive basis at current levels, and have been recommending long pull buying of the stock. Much of the selling which came into Northern Pacific late last year was liquidation because of adverse traffic conditions and earnings as [illegible] Some [illegible] appeared from the C B & Q statements [illegible] earnings and other income may have been further increased through acquisition of the road's express subsidiary.

Borg-Warner is in a position to benefit from any pick-up in the automobile business. The company supplies most of the important manufacturers of motor cars, and is credited with having handled a larger proportion of automobile equipment business last year than ever before. In addition to that branch of the business, the company manufactures agricultural equipment, machine tools, etc.

Market interests point out that National Biscuit continues to act well, showing a tendency to move ahead whenever the general market is satisfactory. The company has absorbed two important concerns in the biscuit business during the last three or four months, the latest being Wheatsworth, Inc. The steady expansion of Bond's activities should be reflected in increased earnings. Part of the buying in the stock has been by interests who have been prominent in the issue on several occasions in the last few years.

Short covering has become more urgent in the last few seasons when the market has moved ahead. That indicates that some of those who sold stocks in contesting the upturns early this year are not as confident as they were concerning their short position. In addition to short covering, the market has been meeting some outside buying on a scale during the recessions, which has helped to absorb the supply and check a downward trend from time to time.

At the moment there is a tendency toward revision downward of recent estimates of the size of the increase to be shown in the Steel Corporation's tonnage report on Saturday. Originally it was estimated the gain would run between 300,000 and 400,000 tons, but presently the disposition is to look for a gain of around 200,000 tons. In December, 1929, the gain was 291,848 tons, and in 1928 it was 303,712 tons, and in 1927, 518,436 tons. In December of 1923 the gain was but 73,755 tons and in 1924 and 1926 it was 184,707 tons and 153,562 tons, respectively. It is possible, however, that considerable rail buying against future needs came in near the close of last month.

Some experienced market observers are of the opinion that railroad stocks will probably fare better over the next few months than most other groups. They believe that the basis for speculation on the long side of the carrier stocks will be found in the run of news coming to hand. Among other things it is pointed out that normally the late winter and spring months constitute a period in which the trend of car loading, for example, is upward. Moreover, it is expected that monthly operating reports will probably show up well by comparison with corresponding periods last year. The latter belief is based on the theory that whereas the railroads were spending heavily for maintenance during the first half of 1930, the carriers this year will keep expenditures pretty well down to the bone.

Recovery Year Not Belieing Name Thus Far

By B. C. FORBES

Mr. Forbes

AMERICAN BIGGEST bankers are breathing more freely now that runs on banks have ceased, fear of stock exchange failures has passed the downswing in commodities has apparently been checked, liquidation of stocks blown and prices covered 12 from the cember

Our last and large not but ties with the idea of making a quick They have to hold indefinitely or for the long pull. Considerable quiet accumulation of stocks both investment and speculative issues has been going on during the last fortnight. Banks are prepared to wait one year, or two years, or even longer for generous profits. They have every confidence that ultimately they will be able to trade where from 50 per cent to 200 per cent profit. They will not be disturbed should the market flop around for a while longer. They feel that they know that it will not permanently drag at current levels.

Before long there is likely to be rather extensive buying of commodities and raw materials for future-distant-deliveries. Here, too, present prices are regarded as abnormally low and as most unlikely to last.

Gradually uneasiness over nearby possibilities of fresh unsettlement will pass, especially if nothing actually disturbing breaks out within the next month or two.

ARE AMERICANS becoming more forehanded, more foresighted, more conservative? The Equitable Life reports record-breaking buying of annuities. That is, more people than ever before are safeguarding themselves against future want by handing over a lump sum for a guaranteed income each year until they die. In older countries annuities are far more popular than they have heretofore been in this less cautious, less thrifty land. Annuities appeal especially to individuals having no dependents. When an annuitant dies, the insurance company stops paying and retains the principal.

For those having dependents, the establishing of trust funds is coming strongly into vogue. The main difference between a trust fund and an annuity is that the income from the trust fund can continue after the person establishing it has passed on, and the principal is not retained by the company but is finally distributed in any way desired.

Both trust funds and annuities will become more common as we gain maturity as a nation and as our readiness to take chances abates.

GEORGE W. HILL shining example of an able son succeeding an able father, announces that the American Tobacco Company, of which he is president, will this year spend more money than ever before on advertising. He has not allowed recent mob psychology to stampede him. And his company has done conspicuously better than most.

ONE COMPANY which did not omit Christmas bonuses is the Dollar Steamship Lines. Maybe the reason for its ability to make money can be deduced from a letter received from the veteran Robert Dollar, just back from one more trip to the Orient. Read these interesting extracts:

"There is no question in my mind that the end of the slump has been reached.

"I am surprised to read in the newspapers here some people think this era of depression was brought on by America. From my observations it is plain that conditions are the same all over the globe.

"Upon my trip to the Far East, I made in all 735 calls on merchants and shippers. Besides, a great number called to see me. Then, we inaugurated a new steamship service in the Philippine Islands, which meant additional work.

"What William B. Joyce says in your column is exactly the opinion I have, namely, that these slumps come about every four to seven years, and it seems no human effort can prevent them, no more than any human effort can stop the prosperity which invariably follows them.

"China has suffered terribly. I had a long heart-to-heart talk with President Chiang Kai-Shek and he assured me that the war is at an end. Bring an end to the fighting, put the 3,000,000 men not under arms to work, and in a few years China will be one of the big nations of the world. In my opinion, China's commercial prospects are unlimited."

SO FAR Recovery Year is not belieing that name.

Auto Outlook for 1931 Appears Bright

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE PITTSBURGH DISTRICT is starting 1931 with one of its biggest customers in a far better condition than a year ago. The automobile industry, which uses half the plate glass produced in this country and which is the second largest consumer of steel, has thrown over its dead weight and is cleared for action.

A year ago the automobile dealers were overloaded with unsold cars. During 1930 the producers saw the folly of forcing inventories on dealers. They gave the distributing part of the industry a breathing spell so that it could reduce stocks to reasonable proportions. Far more cars were sold at retail last year than were produced.

Stocks Off 25 Per Cent

IMPROVEMENT IN THE inventory situation means that any demand for cars which may be developed during 1931 will immediately be reflected in the actual production of cars and in the purchase of materials from this district.

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce has estimated that stocks of new cars at the end of 1930 were 25 per cent lower than a year ago. Production in the full year just ended was only 3,505,061 cars compared with the record output of 5,621,715 in 1929. It is quite probable that sales of cars were over the 4,000,000 mark.

December Output Gains

ANOTHER FAVORABLE SIGN for the automobile industry can be seen in the fact that more cars and trucks were made in December than in either November or the corresponding month of 1929. Output for the month was 155,185 cars against 134,844 in November and only 125,502 in December, 1929.

While this gain was not large, several important producers have announced increases in production schedules during the past week. While the full extent of automobile demand cannot be estimated until after the close of the show in New York, most of the preliminary signs have been favorable.

Prices Cut

AT NO TIME IN the past have automobiles been so universally priced at low levels. Announcements of nearly all makers have contained drastic reductions. Apparently the past year has forced producers to find ways to further curtail their costs. The new low levels should materially stimulate consumer interest in the new models.

The reduced buying of cars last year will have an important bearing on sales of the present year unless the current depression in general business should reach further depths. The slump in motor car production in 1930 represented the fact that the owners of an equal number of cars had decided to make their old models last for another year.

NAME EXCHANGE COMMITTEES

The Pittsburgh Stock Exchange has appointed the following standing committees for the year 1931: Finance, Samuel Carothers, chairman; R. V. Marshall, F. O. Wettach. Clearing House, M. R. Classes in History Will come to Attention!

$3,000.00 IN CASH PRIZES

for Readers who follow Pershing's Own Story

READERS of the Sun-Telegraph are invited to follow this story from the very start—make it a daily study. Spread throughout the publication of the story a set of ten test questions pertaining to dates and episodes chronicled in the narrative will be published. Sun-Telegraph readers will be asked to submit their answers to these questions, based on information found in the story as it will appear in this newspaper, and also write a letter on "What is the most important episode chronicled in the Pershing memoirs published in the Sun-Telegraph and why?"—the letter to be of 200 words or less. This letter is included as a part of the contest because friends of General Pershing, and others who have read advance proofs of this dramatic narrative, claim that many of his statements will start much in the way of controversy.

Three thousand dollars in cash prizes are offered by the Sun-Telegraph to the readers who form this great class in history and who submit the correct or most nearly correct sets of answers and the best letters. A special board of competent judges, none of whom will be employes of the Sun-Telegraph, will be appointed to examine the answers submitted and make the awards.

The Sun-Telegraph readers who join this class in history will be divided into six sub-classes, as follows:

CLASS NO. 1—Grade School Children.
CLASS NO. 2—High School Pupils.
CLASS NO. 3—College Students.
CLASS NO. 4—School Teachers, Members of the Faculty of Schools and Colleges, Clergymen, and Members of Religious Orders.
CLASS NO. 5—Members of the American Legion and Other Organizations That Include World War Veterans.
CLASS NO. 6—All Other Readers of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

These sub-classes cover all walks in life, all vocations, all professions—an opportunity for young and for old. Five hundred dollars in cash prizes is allotted to each of the six classes, the awards to be divided as follows:

FIRST PRIZE	$200.00
SECOND PRIZE	100.00
THIRD PRIZE	50.00

Duke Explains Connection With Underworld

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

The day before her marriage to Jim Tracy, wealthy Connie Calvert learns through Duke Garson, underworld character, of the existence of a half-sister, Kitty, by her father's secret first marriage. Kitty, a produce of the slums, demands $100,000 for her silence. Connie, glad to have found her sister, offers to take her home. Kitty refuses. Connie is favorably impressed by Duke's magnetism. When Jim objects to her interest in Kitty, Connie breaks her engagement. She realizes Jim is mainly interested in her money and that she does not love him. Connie tells her mother about Kitty. Connie sees Kitty and learns of her laborious daily struggle for existence. Kitty goes home with Connie and is welcomed by Mrs. Calvert. When Jim visits he takes an interest in Kitty. Connie, believing Jim a philanderer, is concerned for Kitty. Kitty admits that she likes Jim, but is afraid that he does not like her. Connie warns her of his selfishness. Connie's distrust of Jim causes her to seek Garson's aid. Duke does not agree with Connie's views. He admits that he is more interested in her than in Kitty. He agrees to stop at Calvert's for a few days.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIX.

Connie's face became faintly stubborn.

"I want to know about you," she declared, "and I'm not as conventional as you think—nor as easily shocked. You've got to tell me!"

Garson gazed moodily into the lily pool.

"Did you ask Kitty about me?"

"I didn't question her closely, no."

"She told you nothing?"

"Nothing."

"Well, she couldn't have told you anything anyway, except my reputation. She doesn't know any of the facts behind the reputation."

"She didn't tell me your reputation, except that you were what they call a square-shooter."

Startles Connie

"I don't suppose I ought to take advantage of your hospitality and leave you in the dark about my classification as a citizen," Garson said, slowly. "I don't like to meet people socially—under false colors. What did you think I was when you first met me?"

She hesitated briefly.

"I thought you were what you seemed to be—a crook. But I can't believe that now."

"Well, you guessed right the first time. That's my labor—a crook. Kitty might have told you that, if she cared to; Kitty or any plainclothes man in the district."

An icy cold struck Connie's heart. It seemed so—so cheap—so contemptible. There was no trace of romance in greed, dishonesty, cowardly violence.

"Oh!"

His eyes turned straight toward her, but now she had no impulse to look at him. There was an unpleasant lump and tightening in her throat.

"I told you you wouldn't like me if I talked about myself," Garson said. "I might go further and try to justify myself, but it's unlikely I'd succeed. However, you needn't fear that you have been entertaining a jailbird. I'm not that. There's not a conviction, not even an arrest against me. For instance, if a newspaper printed my name as a crook, I could sue for libel and collect. Legally, my status is as unblemished as your own—yet there is quite a difference in our reputations."

His words brought a pervading sorrow to her. It seemed such a tragic waste of intelligence—of a man's life.

"Merely because you have escaped the law doesn't mean anything at all, does it?" she murmured.

Garson Explains

"It means a little—but not much," he admitted. "I have had slightly more intelligence than the forces opposed to me—and have had a little better luck. Innocent men, with less luck and intelligence, have been sent to prison hundreds of times. I told you you would be sorry if you made me tell you this—and you are, aren't you?"

Connie, all at once impatient, shot Duke Garson a straight glance—

"You're just talking now—just talking! Why can't you come straight out and tell me what it is you do that is dishonest—crooked?"

He returned her gaze steadily.

"I didn't say I was dishonest. I said I had the reputation of a crook. There's a difference. Specifically, I am a backer of crooks—if you care to use that cheap expression. What shall I call myself—an adviser, a planner, a father of expressions? They come to me just as a business man might go to his banker, or his lawyer. They are my clients because they receive my superior comprehension of their problems. Usually, they are quite stupid and are greatly impressed by my reputation for astuteness."

Scorn mingled with intense curiosity in Connie's eyes.

"You use your superior intelligence to lead the stupid and vicious into crime—is that it?"

"On the contrary, the reverse is more nearly true," Garson informed her. "As a matter of fact, I have headed off and prevented any number of stupid attempts at crime which most certainly would have ended in disaster for the perpetrators. I have had many times plans laid before me for robbery and holdups that were so idiotically hopeless that I had been disgusted with my fellow men."

"Your fellow men—you mean crooks?"

"We are all fellow men—police, crooks and private citizens alike. I was speaking of the crooks, however. Always, in such cases, I used my utmost influence to stop such crimes. They would have ended, inevitably, in imprisonment or death for somebody. Many a man is alive and walking the streets today because I talked some thick-headed thug out of killing him."

Never Advised Crime

He was so casual, almost cold-blooded, that Connie looked at him in amazement. There was a gentleness about him that belied any hint of viciousness of makeup; yet she had not doubted at all that he was telling the absolute truth.

"But in other cases—the times they tell you about plans that have the prospect of success? Do you tell them to go ahead then, and rob and shoot and kill?"

"No, I never advised a man to commit a crime in my life. These people—gangsters and the like—are hardened criminals and they need no encouragement from me or anyone else. I don't try to preach to them, because I would be sure to lose their friendship and confidence. The risks of crime are enormous. If a proposed job is outlined to me and if the chances for success looked good I can do nothing but admit the truth."

"In other words," Connie speculated, "you keep your clients from unsuccessful crime and guide them to victory?"

"If you prefer to be cynical—do it—yet you have no idea of how many crimes I have prevented. Of course, I deal with a relatively small group. On the whole, I believe I do a great deal more good than harm. The police battle crime from the outside. I bore from within."

Connie, studying him, realized that these things so repellant to her, whose philosophy of life was entirely different, fascinated Duke Garson. He was playing with fire and dangerously close to being burned.

DAILY TRUE STORY She Knew Too Much

"I don't know a thing."

Lulu Winters patted her lips, as if politely stifling a yawn of utter indifference.

The gesture didn't fool Lieut. Donovan for a moment.

"Listen, Lulu—"

"Miss Winters, Lieutenant, to you," she said, staring back at him.

"Listen, Lulu. Kink Ryan and Spot Unger and that crowd calls you Lulu. I'm a better man than they are in every way. If they're good enough to call you Lulu, so am I. And how do you get away with the 'Miss Winters' stuff? You're Kink's moll, aren't you?"

"No. Not yet. He wants me to be."

"Still straight, Lulu?"

"Still straight, but what is it to you?"

"Whatever it is to me, it won't do any good. You're on the toboggan side now. You'll be Kink's moll, soon, and when he gets bumped, you'll be Spot's moll or some other crook's, until you get to know too much and your turn comes to take a ride."

"When you're through with the sermon, Loot, may I go?"

"I'm not through with my sermon. I want to know where Jake is. You know, and I want to know."

"I don't know. I don't know a thing."

"You know too much already, Lulu. You know who croaked Verlotti. It happened in the back room at Kink's joint and you were there. You know who cracked the Mandan Bank and put the watchman on the spot—you know heaps, Lulu. Look here, never mind telling me where Jake is—"

"Thanks. Not knowing, I couldn't."

Trailed by Detective

"Never mind that. I'll telephone my brother in Akron right now, give you a couple hundred cash, and see that you get out there—just for your father's sake. He did me some big favors in his day and I owe it to his memory to try and save you."

"No can do, Loot. May I go or are you going to ask me where Jake is, again?"

"There's the door," he growled.

Lulu Winters smiled at him.

"You're a good scout, Donovan—too bad you're just a bull."

Lieut. Donovan didn't turn his head or make a reply as Lulu Winters went out, but as soon as the door was closed he picked up a house phone.

"She's leaving—trail her," he said.

That night Donovan got his report from Detective Slade.

At Kink's place, the "Three Owls," Lulu Winters was doing just about what the detective reported. But Slade did not know something very important—that Jake the Gyp was in the little office in the Three Owls at that time. Lulu knew that Jake was there that afternoon when Donovan had been trying to make her squeal.

"Jake wants to see you," Kink whispered to Lulu.

Jake the Gyp was the "Big Guy" in the outfit. It was his money that was financing Kink, and his money, secured from the gang's many profitable rackets, that was divided with the gang, he getting the lion's share.

Lulu went to the little office and tapped. The door opened and she slipped in.

Lulu told him, as well as she could remember, all that had been said, even about her father turning in his grave and the warning that in time she would know too much and be given a "ride."

"O. K., Kid. You're too wise to double-cross any of us."

Around daylight Kink went home with her. They had doped a bunch of spenders and cleaned them. Kink handed Lulu a roll of bills.

"Five grand, Babe—go nail that apartment I told you about and furnish it up for us," King said.

Questioned Again

"Not yet, Kink—wait a while."

"Funny," she thought. "I have a hunch I'd better take up with Kink when he asks me, and when I get alone I think I better not—gee, I got to do some deciding soon."

But matters went on and on like that for months.

When Dip Schmid was found perforated and taken to the hospital, he wasn't one of the sort who never tell. Being yellow, he was a stool pigeon, and so he said, "Jake the Gyp did it himself."

Word was railroaded to Jake at once and he disappeared.

Lieut. Donovan had Lulu Winters brought in.

"Jake was over at the Three Owls the last time I asked you, and you knew it. You know where he is now, and I want to know. If you don't come across things will happen to your man, Kink."

"If you mean that I've taken up with him, you're wrong, and as for Jake, I don't know where he is. I don't know a thing."

Donovan let her go, having her trailed, as usual. Spider Taylor came in, an hour after this, and whispered to Donovan, "Jake's up at Spot's flat."

They went and got Jake. It cost him heavy to get out of that, but he did.

"Kink," he said, "if you're with me, Oke—spill it now. That dame, Lulu, knows too damned much. They come and get me an hour after Donovan had her on the mat."

"Gees, Jake, I don't want to be put on the spot. I can get plenty of dames. If you say give Lulu a ride, I'll do it for you myself."

"You'll take a trip to Chi, and I'll take her for that ride myself. Don't tell her you're going."

Jake's word was law. Kink slipped away. Jake and Spot Unger and Grip Sartolli planned the "ride." Spot told Lulu that Kink was hurt in a hi-jacking mess and wanted to see her. They would take her up—it was only 30 miles up the road."

After dark Lulu started out with the three. It was past midnight when she walked into Lieut. Donovan's office.

"Jake, Spot and Sartolli had an accident; run the car into a river up at Hyndhurst; better go get their bodies," she said, "and here's a gat. Listen Loot, will you give me a letter to that brother of yours out in Akron? I got plenty of dough. I'm going out there to work."

Donovan picked up the gun.

Used Tear Gas

"This is a tear gun, Lulu."

"Sure I know it. They were taking me for a ride and I used it and jumped out and they drove into the river. You don't have to tell that part, do you?"

"They drove into the river?"

"Sure. The tear gas blinded them and they couldn't see and the car went over in deep water. They're there now."

Donovan wrote the letter for her.

"Here, and God bless you, Lulu. But you see I was right. The time came when you knew too much."

"Sure you was right, Loot—I knew too much to let them take me for a ride and bump me, but you won't queer me? About me using the tear gun on 'em?"

"Me? Why Lulu, I don't know a thing," said the Lieutenant.

THAT WOMAN UPSTAIRS AND I HAD A BIG LONG TALK IN THE LAUNDRY THIS MORNING. DO YOU KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT EINSTEIN'S THEORY? I LOOKED IT UP IN THAT ENCYCLOPEDIA YOU GOT WITH THOSE TOBACCO COUPONS BUT THE ARTICLE WAS TERRIBLY MIXED UP.
EINSTEIN'S THEORY? I'VE HAD IT EXPLAINED TO ME ANY NUMBER OF TIMES. IT'S ABOUT SPACE AND SO FORTH
THE MORE I READ OF THAT ENCYCLOPEDIA THE MORE CERTAIN I WAS THAT THE WRITER JUST STRUNG A LOT OF WORDS TOGETHER TO MAKE PEOPLE THINK HE KNEW SOMETHING ABOUT IT.
WHAT YOU WANT IS A SIMPLE EXPLANATION FINE! FOR INSTANCE, TAKE THIS HAT. WHEN I TURN IT INSIDE OUT, WHERE DOES THE INSIDE GO AND WHAT BECOMES OF THE OUTSIDE THAT WAS THE INSIDE?
HOW'S THAT AGAIN...WHAT ARE YOU TALKING ABOUT? WHAT HAS TURNING A HAT INSIDE OUT GOT TO DO WITH THE MOON AND ALL THAT? IMAGINE!
LISTEN...LET ME THINK...YOU'VE GOT ME MIXED UP A LITTLE TOO NOW. LET ME THINK..? WHERE DOES THE OUTSIDE GO WHEN IT'S ON THE INSIDE? YES THAT'S IT.
THAT EXPLANATION — OR WHATEVER IT IS — SOUNDS EXACTLY LIKE WHAT I READ IN THE ENCYCLOPEDIA EXACTLY. AND THAT'S THE MAIN REASON I DIDN'T FINISH READING IT.
IT IS VERY BIG STUFF, VERY. THE FIRST TIME YOU UNDERSTAND IT IS THE HARDEST AND GIVES YOU THE SAME IMPRESSION AS SLIPPING ON AN ICY SIDEWALK. BUT AFTER I HAD IT EXPLAINED WITH A HAT, AS I SHOWED YOU, IT WAS VERY CLEAR, TO ME — IN SPOTS.

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT
Industrial Research Here Advances Civilization Everywhere

World Leadership

Mellon Institute, Taken as Model In Great Britain and China, Increases Pittsburgh's Prestige.

Pittsburghers have the Mellon Institute to thank for an increase in the city's prestige in remote parts of the world.

The Institute's system of industrial research fellowships is being adopted as a model for similar institutions in Great Britain and China.

In Great Britain a committee composed of David Lloyd George, the Marquess of Lothian and B. Seebohm Rowntree have submitted to the government a plan for overcoming industrial depression by exploiting new scientific developments. The Mellon Institute, they say in their report, is doing "very valuable work" of this character, and "has undoubtedly been a factor in the rapid growth of American prosperity." They recommend it be taken as a model.

In China a research laboratory has been established at Shanghai, modeled on the Mellon Institute.

The world apparently is looking to Pittsburgh for leadership in this field, and it augurs well for our future, for, as the British committee says, in calling attention to the value of industrial research, "Prosperity will come to those nations who are quickest in the development of the ideas of the new age."

Vacant Postmastership

Senator Davis Has Done Well In Urging Senator Reed to Fill the Position Without Further Delay.

For more than six months Pittsburgh has been without a postmaster.

For reasons best known to himself, Senator Reed has seen fit to withhold the designation of a successor to Postmaster Gosser, who left the office on July 1.

Since then the Pittsburgh postoffice has been managed by an inspector from Washington.

This undesirable condition should be promptly ended. There are unquestionably competent men among the local postal employes from whom a postmaster can be selected.

At the request of Pittsburgh congressmen Senator Davis has urged Senator Reed to stop procrastinating and fill the position. The Pittsburgh postoffice personnel, it was said, is being demoralized by the uncertainty.

Senator Davis has done a praiseworthy thing in thus reminding Reed of his duty.

Mexican Arts Show

Education, as Well as Pleasure, Is to Be Found In the New Exhibition at Carnegie Institute.

When Boardman Robinson's mural paintings at Kaufmann's were dedicated last year, he said, in an interview, that in his judgment the finest murals were now being produced by the Mexican painters Diego Rivera and Jose Clemente Orozco. Indeed, he went so far as to say that nothing superior to their work had been produced since the Renaissance.

Robinson's estimate furnishes a basis for appraising the value of the exhibition of Mexican arts which opened in Carnegie Institute yesterday; for it includes paintings by Rivera and Orozco as well as the cream of other fine and applied arts.

Education is also in store.

The exposition is serving an important purpose in promoting in the United States appreciation of Mexican culture and Mexican aspirations.

A Memorial to Brashear

The Suggestion That a Planetarium Be Built as a Monument to the Astronomer Has Much to Commend It.

Miss Anne L. Demmler, of Cranberry Township, Butler County, suggests in a letter to the Sun-Telegraph that a planetarium be built in Pittsburgh as a memorial to John Brashear.

Certainly Brashear, the great astronomer and former chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, once designated by a governor of Pennsylvania as the state's foremost citizen, deserves an imposing monument.

Certainly, also, a planetarium would fill the bill admirably and would have the approbation of Brashear.

A planetarium is a building in which the movements of the heavenly bodies are reproduced by the use of complicated machinery. There is an auditorium in which the stars are represented in an exceedingly vivid and lifelike manner. It is said that a visit to a planetarium teaches the average person more astronomy than could be learned by months of study of textbooks.

The astronomical section of the Academy of Science and Art, which proposed some time ago to conduct a campaign to get a planetarium for Pittsburgh, will win the gratitude of the public if it is successful.

Mine Cave-In Relief

Western Pennsylvania Representatives Should Co-Operate With Anthracite Legislators.

Word comes from Scranton that legislators from the anthracite region will ask the Commonwealth to do something to protect human life and guard homes and other buildings from the damage that is caused by mines caving in.

The hard coal towns have suffered from cave-ins for years. They have sought, in session after session of the Legislature, for the means to combat the cave-in menace. Such legislation as they obtained failed to stand the test of the courts.

In the new effort they should have the co-operation of Western Pennsylvania legislators. Recent disclosures in connection with the suggestion of the Pittsburgh Coal Company that property owners buy abandoned workings beneath their land and thus assure the retention of the coal pillars supporting the roof of the mine have shown the bituminous country needs protection as well as the anthracite.

SUN TELEGRAPH'S PLATFORM

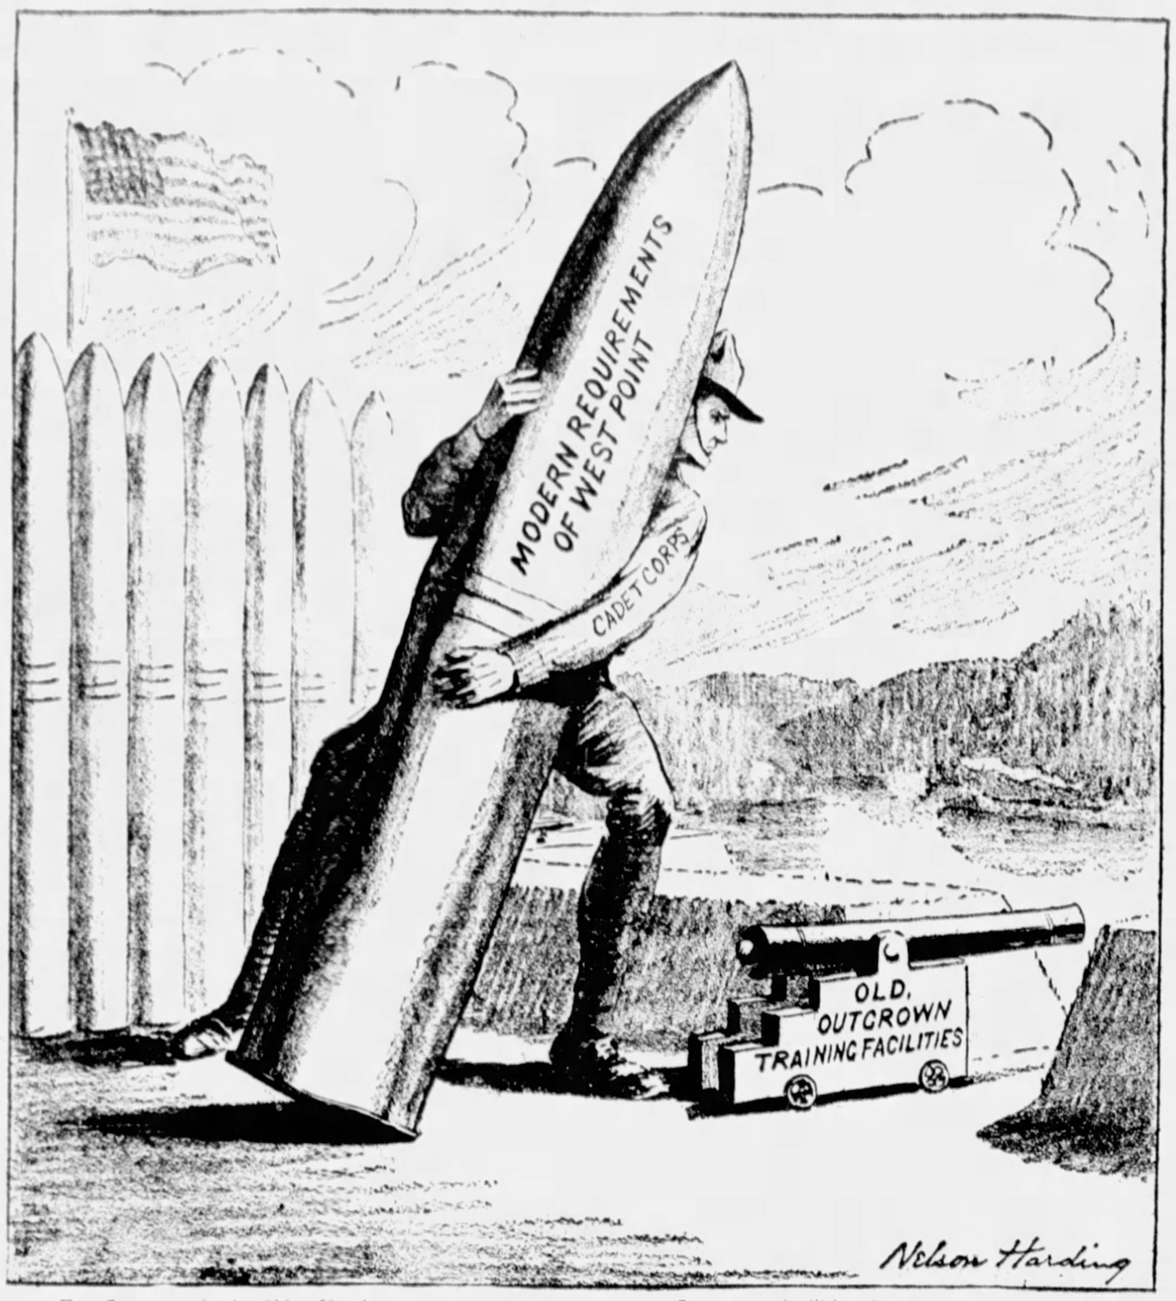
7—Development of river transportation.
8—Development of air transportation.
9—Electrification of railroads.

They Don't Fit

By Nelson Harding



For Congress, it should hardly be
So very difficult to tell
The difference in size between
Old cannon and a modern shell.

Outgrown facilities do not Afford cadets a chance to train
For warfare of the present day,

Once Uncle Sam

Now Uncle Snoop.

A PROHIBITION PARADOX.

The United States does not hire forgers to catch forgers, nor train robbers to catch train robbers, nor murderers to catch murderers.

It does not hesitate, however, to hire prohibition agents to catch prohibition violators, and then teach them to become drunkards in the process.

Not only does it hire men for this dirty work, but women also. And according to the published admissions of one of these women, it fosters drunkenness among them as the only means by which they can spy effectively on their victims.

The government loudly denies this, but that is exactly what it amounts to.

Writing from Washington for a New York morning paper, Mrs. Aldys F. Larimer, the prohibition spy who exposes this sordid system, says:

"Until I took up this work, I hardly touched liquor at all. I hated the stuff and could hardly get it down. A very little of it mussed up my brain, and I only half-emptied my glass most of the time. Gradually, however, I became adept."

Mrs. Larimer further reveals that informers do not last long at the informing business, and women informers do not last as long as men. The reason she gives is that "constant drinking of the poor quality of alcoholic beverages served in speakeasies undermines their health and lands them in hospitals."

And there you have, in a few words, one of the things that the noble experiment has brought this country to.

The federal government gumshoeing up back alleys, paying snoopers, buying bad booze for women to drink in the name of "temperance"—it is a wonderful picture, is it not?

And by the way, Mrs. Larimer is the mother of three children. What an example is set to them and all other children by that pious old hypocrite Uncle Sam—or rather, beg pardon, Uncle Snoop.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Destiny

I am not a fatalist. I don't believe in predestination, preordination, voodoos, hoodoos, star-gazing or the magic powers of a rabbit's foot.

* * *

And yet—and yet, I sometimes think that Shakespeare was right! "There IS a destiny that shapes our ends, rough-hew them how we may!"

* * *

Your destiny is born right INSIDE you—inside your head and your heart and your body—and you can't escape it, until you escape this earth.

Your destiny is born in your character—in your strength or your weaknesses. Not in your genius, or your talents or your beauty.

Many a brilliant genius has died unknown, because he had not the power or the strength or the will to put himself OVER. Because his laziness or his weakness was greater than his genius. Because his self-indulgence was dearer to him than self-expression.

And many a mediocrity has blazed out a brilliant career for himself, because a burning passion to do and to be and to create a fighting, indomitable will drove him on. Because he had faith in himself that nothing could quench, an energy that nothing could weaken. Because he loved WORK better than anything else on earth.

Many a beauty, who, by the divine right of beauty, should have married a title or a million, or shone behind the footlights, has languished and blushed unseen, like the proverbial violet, because she could not put herself ACROSS.

And many a commonplace, plain-faced young woman with wit and courage and brains and a magnetic, vital personality has rocketed her way to power and stardom, to fame and fortune, on the strength of a burning ambition or a flaming spirit.

The failures will tell you that they never had a break, that luck was all against them. But luck has nothing to do with it—except the luck of being "born that way." The luck of being born strong and courageous—or weak and timid and self-indulgent.

* * *

The man who has the birthday GIFT of courage and a high heart inside of him, can walk under ladders, break looking-glasses and look at the moon over the wrong shoulder all his life and still be "lucky."

* * *

That's the only "LUCK" there is!

A PATH-BREAKING SCIENTIST

By Archibald Henderson

The recent death of Florian Cajorie, on August 14, 1930, marks the passing of a scientist of great modesty and simplicity, whose work will not be fully appreciated until he has been long gone from us. It is a singular and ironic commentary upon the vagaries of fame that Cajorie is most widely known for those of his works which by no means represent him at his best.

These are, respectively, The History of Mathematics (1894), The History of Elementary Mathematics (1896), and The History of Physics (1899). His greatest work, The History of Mathematical Notations, in two volumes, and some of his briefer essays in byepaths of mathematical science, are sure to be appreciated at their full value at some time in the future.

Cajorie is one of the numerous figures of eminence in various lines who have lent luster to the United States, although natives of other countries. He was born at St. Aignan, near Thusis, in the Canton of Grisons, in Switzerland, on February 28, 1859.

At the age of 16 he came to the United States; so he fully deserves to rank as an American scientist. All of his scientific work was done here; and 55 of his 71 years were passed in this country.

After spending two years in the State Normal School at Whitewater, Wis., he entered the University of Wisconsin, whence he received the degrees of B. S. and M. S. After studying a year and a half at Johns Hopkins University, and spending four years at Tulane University, first as assistant professor, he was called to Colorado College, where he remained for nine years as professor of physics. For 20 years, beginning in 1898, he was professor of mathematics there, also serving as dean of the department of engineering from 1903 to 1918.

For 24 years prior to 1918, he had been building up a distinguished reputation as historian of mathematics. The many contributions he made to that rich and fruitful field of research led to his being called in 1918 to the post of professor of the history of mathematics at the University of California.

According to Prof. David Eugene Smith, himself eminent as historian of mathematics, Cajorie was the first man ever to receive the title of professor of the history of mathematics and one of the few to have a university position allowing the entire time of its occupant to be given to research, writing, and teaching in this particular field.

This appointment was unique as an honor for unusual distinction and the University of California was fully justified in making it. Little more than a year ago, at the age of 70, Prof. Cajorie retired from active teaching, with the title of professor emeritus.

The volume of Cajorie's contributions to the history of mathematics, physics and astronomy was immense. Some years yet will be required to assess this great volume of published work at its full value. Contributions from his pen appeared in more than a score of publications, and in many languages. During the period of his residence at the University of California alone, he contributed to these periodicals 140 articles and reviews. Published books, in addition to those already mentioned, are: "Teaching and History of Mathematics in the United States," "History of the Logarithmic Slide Rule" (William Oughtred), "History of the Concepts of Limits and Fluxions in Great Britain from Newton to Woodhouse," "The Early Mathematical Sciences in North and South America," and the "Checquered Career of Ferdinand Rudolph Hassler" (first superintendent of the United States Coast Survey).

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

I have a little garden.

It is hidden under the top of a hill and there is a high wall about it and tall trees bending over it. The light in my garden is dim and green, like the water in a secret pool—and the air is very sweet. Only seldom does the wind come. And when the rain falls it is as though someone slipped on tiptoe over the moss-grown flags, between the jasamine and the white roses and dark blue yews.

In one corner of my garden there is a small shrine—in memory of one who is dead. And in another there is a basin where little living birds tumble and chatter and fluff bright showers of beads. They are very near to each other—that shrine to death and that basin filled with life. And sometimes, sitting there and thinking about it all, life and death seem very near, too—like one story that goes on and on, through the night and through the day, through starlight and sunrise—.

I do a great many things in life—I go a great many places. But I never forget that secret garden, filled with memory and flowers and dreams. But I am certain that, looking at me, you would never suspect that I had such a garden.

You would see a big, careless woman who eats too much and uses slang and does many things which might shock or amaze you. You would say to yourself: "What a coarse creature! Maybe she has a good heart, but what a pity she can't learn a few manners. I wonder why on earth they hire her. It's plain she isn't a lady. She can't possibly understand nice people and things. Maybe she would be jolly to have around, but there's so much she would miss. All the gentle, lovely things one can't talk about—and the hurts that really sensitive people feel—she'd never understand those. Queer—I wonder what people like that do feel—noisy, efficient people like that, who don't care for the fine things in life."

That, I suspect, is what you would think if you saw me barging along, laughing and eating and raising Cain. You'd try to be nice, but that is what you would really think.

And I'd probably be equally stupid if I saw you, mincing about, being nice and cautious and polite.

"What can that funny little creature know about life?" I'd say. "What can such a pee-wee nature know of the terrors and wonders and witcheries and frail, heart-breaking beauty of life?"

That's what you'd think. And that's what I'd think. And, of course, we'd both be wrong. For we'd both have hidden gardens that held a secret loveliness the world could never see. Hidden gardens that had nothing to do with our work-a-day exteriors.

I have known many lives. Branded lives some of them. Lives that other men had cast out... that seemed devoid of every decent, beautiful trait. And yet I have never seen a life that did not have, somewhere, a hidden garden with a shrine and some small pool of sweet water, where life still bubbled and sang.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Heaven on Earth

Always have dreamers sought a plan
To fashion heaven on earth for man;
Their fancies, strange and intricate,
Seemed of some other orb's estate.
More worldly folk have only smiled
As at the whimsies of a child;
Yet if they would but pause to see
The problem is for you, for me.
Within our hands the whole scheme lies,
No complex system to devise.
But just by giving of our best
And meeting squarely every test.
With honest deed and honest thought
Our bright Utopia could be wrought.
The virtues favored most by fame
May have a more resounding name;
But still in simple honesty
Lies each man's hope of being free
From all the shackles life can weave,
The lures that bind him and deceive.
For honor is so fine a thing
Without it all life's joys take wing.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Thoughts while strolling: The White Way's nightly miracle of light. And the pink glow that chiffons the heavens. What became of the Swiss bell ringers? One of George Arliss' eyes seems stretched out of kilter from monocle wearing.

Zoe Akins, a Humansville, Mo., girl, who made good in the city. Simile: As prominent as a newly shaved upper lip. A "Frankie and Johnny" lunchroom. Folding beds $5.95. Texas Guinan never carries money. A custom with many these days. No matter how long an actor has been jobless he can sport a fur coat.

H. L. Mencken's short neck. Who remembers when Willie and Eugene Howard were programed as: "The Traveling Salesman and the Messenger Boy?" Sign: "We only seek a dot of your patronage." Here are three . . . Never hear much of Maeterlinck any more. Aversion: Jokes about Austins.

Theater box offices are still rather snooty. And they helped kill the theater. Along with those manufactured dancers sent out in sets and with property smiles. Alexander Woollcott has a paunch. Sterling Holloway is a Sunny Jim come to life. Libby Holman looks like Joan Lowell.

The serene statuesque Julia Hoyt. And the wide-eyed Nida Westman who seems eternally bewildered by her mix-up with the world. I'd like to see Ethel Barrymore, shucked of her emotional wrappings, just being herself some time. The blurred Broadway masses stumbling along.

One of those tweedy boys with balcony teeth: "I'm hopping over to Yokohama next week!" That's ignoring distance. It strikes me Californians are the greatest of all travelers. That is, among Americans. Satin-slippered ladies in evening wraps, who park limousines and walk to the play smoking.

Cole Porter's latest musical show tunes failed to click. Pseudo twins on the make—a new racket in gold-digging. And what's become of Harry Richman? Those leather-lunged barkers in front of movie houses. Move over! I have the apple rights on this corner!

I am told of a middle-aged couple who, loving life, become depressed at times over advancing years. When the strain is too great, they don evening clothes and dine at the sedate Murray Hill. "After that," they declare, "we rush home sucking lollipops, put on rompers and play with blocks."

News photographers are reported meeting a Waterloo trying to snap young Howard Hughes, a millionaire movie strippling. One report was only a back view of him was secured as he dashed into a hotel. It was further reported the shy, O, so shy, youth, left places by back doors. All of which sounds pretty phoney. The young man may have dodged them, but had they wanted his picture badly they would have taken it. And lay big odds on it! There are a half hundred Mr. Hughes popping into New York daily. Those whose pictures are wanted are always taken.

New York has more than 600 private detective agencies, chiefly concerned with divorce evidence. One agency is conducted by a woman whose letter head screams: "Never lost a Case in Court!"

Among heftiest accounts of private sleuthing agencies are those of rich women who indulge the luxury of having their husbands spied upon wherever they go. Many are not seeking divorce evidence, but merely like to read daily reports of the professional snoopers.

One spring-kneed fellow, under constant espionage, can just about dodder to his club and back each afternoon. Yet for 15 years he has been trailed. He learned of it upon discovering monthly bills of his wife, after her passing.

Henry Sell's swanky Sutton Place apartment has row after row of deep glass tanks along the windows. All are filled with water and floating with freshly cut roses. I suppose it is a forerunner of a complete mental breakdown, but all last evening I had to fight of an urge to flip a cigaret end in one of the compartments. I also have an incurable craving to spit out open high windows.
